FORTIETH CONGRESS.

The High Court of Impeachment—Manager Williams Concludes His Argument—Manager Butler Makes a Personal Explanation—Argument of Mr. Evarts.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 28, 1868.

SENATE.

When the Court had been opened in due form

Senator SUMNER said—I send to the Chair an amendment to the order of the Senate upon the trial of impeachments. When that has been read, if there be any objection, I will ask that it go over until the close of the argument, and take its place with other matters that will come up at that time.

The amendment was read as follows: "Whereas it is provided in the Constitution of the United States that on the trial of impeachment by the Senate no person shall be convicted without the concurring of two-thirds of the members present, but this requirement of two-thirds is not extended to the judgment in such trials, which remains subject to the general law that a majority prevails; therefore, in order to remove any doubt,

Ordered, that any question which may arise with regard to the judgment shall be determined by a majority of members present.

Senator DAVIS objected.

The CHIEF JUSTICE said it will lie over.

MANAGER WILLIAMS CONCLUDES.

Manager WILLIAMS then, at 12:15 resumed his argument.

After recapitulating his position of yesterday, he took up the subject of the President's alleged justification by reason of the advice given him by his Cabinet. He held the President could not shield himself behind the opinions of his own creatures, whose sentiments were prompted by fear of losing their positions. He characterized the Cabinet, in its newly assumed functions, as a fungus growth, which sought to make itself a directory. He argued if members of the Cabinet were intended to advise the President on questions of general policy, and shield him from responsibility for his actions, they would have been made independent of his control. He claimed that the President had failed to show any sufficient cause for his desire to remove Mr. Stanton. True, he was a thorn in his side, but so was Congress, and so was Grant, and every loyal man. He held that the wanton removal of a meritorious officer, from motives of personal dislike, is a sufficient warrant for impeachment. He referred to the President's failure to commence legal proceedings, which he maintained would not have suited his purpose to have an interregnum, wherein his own will would be supreme. He then gave a satirical and humorous description of the conduct of Gen. Thomas on the 21st and 22d of February, including his appearance at the masquerade.

With regard to the defence set up by the President, that he has a right to resist and bring to judicial decision laws he considers unconstitutional, Mr. Williams maintained that no provision of the Constitution required such a confirmation, and that extreme cases of unconstitutional laws were not supposable.

He would admit that the Senate is now sitting as a Court, but it was a Court holding exclusive jurisdiction, which could decide this whole matter according to its own ideas, guided but not bound by precedents and laws.

Mr. Williams then argued that the suspension of Mr. Stanton was made under the Tenure-of-Office law, which the President thereby recognized. He then maintained that the averment of evil intent was not necessary. In this case, as in all others, it was inferred from the act itself. Comparing the conduct of Mr. Johnson with that of James the Second, he said it only now remained to see whether the parallel would be completed. He contended that the supreme law was the only law by which this case could be properly tried. It was belittled by trivial and impertinent legal technicalities, and he besought the Senate to take the larger view.

In regard to the Eleventh Article he had not the heart to dwell upon the disgraceful conduct which formed its subject. If the President, like his counsel, made merry over it, he could only say that Nero fiddled while Rome was burning, and that one culprit would find in the Senate a censor more stern than Cato.

In conclusion he said the result of the trial would determine whether the President or the Senate would go down, and depicting a series of fearful consequences which would follow from the acquittal, he contrasted it with a glowing picture of peace, prosperity and happiness to result from the President's conviction.

The Senate took a recess.

MANAGER BUTLER MAKES A PERSONAL EXPLANATION.

On reassembling Manager BUTLER asked leave to make a personal explanation in regard to the Alta Vela matter, referred to by Mr. Nelson, and read a written statement, in which he condemned in very severe terms the introduction by Mr. Nelson of assertions and insinuations, unsupported by evidence and irrelevant to the case, and went on to relate the circumstances of his connection with the matter. He stated he gave Mr. Shaeffer an opinion on the Alta Vela claim before impeachment was decided on, or before the President commited the act which gave rise to it, and had never heard of it afterwards until published in the New York papers. Mr. Logan also signed it, but other signatures were affixed to the copy of his opinion long after the original was given to the President. Neither he nor any of the other Managers had any interest in the Alta Vela claim. The signatures were sent to the President in order to support him in doing what he had already declared his intention of doing. Mr. Butler then read an affidavit of Chauncey F. Black and Mr. Schaeffer, corroborating these assertions.

Mr. NELSON, by permission, replied and reminded the Senate that the topic was not introduced by himself, and claimed he had a right to vindicate his client from the aspersions cast upon him by the other side. He had brought no accusations against the Managers, and contended warmly that the imputation made against him just now was unjustifiable and outrageous. He had supposed that the original opinion was dated like the copy, and asked why he had not been corrected when he read the letters. If allowed he would reproduce them to-morrow, and would show that the additional signatures were made after the trial had commenced, and were used by Judge Black to influence the President. In the course of his remarks Mr. Nelson was called to order by Senator Yates.

Manager LOGAN stated the signatures were affixed before the impeachment commenced.

Mr. NELSON said the letter would show.

MR. EVARTS SPEAKS FOR THE PRESIDENT.

Mr. EVARTS then, at 2:30, rose and addressed the Senate and the Chief Justice in behalf of the President. His opening remarks had reference to the grave character of the cause and the impossibility of human prescience for seeing the results which would flow from it. From these considerations he framed a strong appeal for circumspection and impartiality in its consideration.

Briefly reviewing the issues involved in the few impeachment trials which have taken place in our country, he spoke of their utter insignificance in comparison with those now presented, and said he should call their attention to some of the probable results which would follow the decision either way. If the President is acquitted, the Government will go on as before. Congress, the Executive, and the Judiciary will resume their proper functions. In case of conviction, disturbances of various kinds will arise. One branch of the Government will be divested of its prerogatives and the President will be succeeded by a member of the body which deposed him. This he maintained was the trial of the Constitution. Referring to the Supreme Court as the respected, cherished guardian of the people's liberty, he alluded to Congress as having recently prevented the exercise of its rightful jurisdiction in defense of a sacred right, and Congress was also attacking the other co-ordinate branch of the Government, and the people looked to this trial for a decision which would restrain that aggressive branch within its proper limits. The oath of the President was not merely the common oath faithfully to discharge the duties of his office, but included the unique and sublime obligation to preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States. The people have formed and will adhere to the determination that that oath shall not be taken in vain. They are converts to no theories of Congressional omnipotence, and when they hear this sword of impeachment is drawn they wish to know what the crime is with which the President has been charged and for which it is sought to depose him. They understand what treason and bribery are in all their ramifications, but in going through with all their list, they are told his crime is having removed a member of his Cabinet, and are told it becomes a crime because Congress for the first time in the history of the government has made it so. He undertook to make an ad interim Secretary of War, and now, in consequence, they are to have made for them an ad interim President. They also ascertain that no force was employed and no removal was made, except on paper, and that for the purpose of procuring a decision of the Supreme Court, to prevent which vigorous action was at once taken by those who bring the accusation. In short, said Mr. Evarts, the people see that it is a question of supremacy between Congress and the Constitution. They did not hold to the idea that the Constitution was made only for our infancy, but felt that it was to be the guide and bond of our maturest manhood, and were determined that law should continue to be the guardian of liberty.

Referring then to the position assumed by the Managers that this tribunal is not a Court, Mr. Evarts said it was the first time he ever knew a prosecutor to make the assertion that his case was coram non judice. But they probably felt that the only way to prevent their cause being turned out of Court, was to turn the Court out of the to show that this body is not a Court, he cause. As to the English precedents adduced said Parliament was the Supreme Court of that nation, and that impeachment was only a part of its judicial functions, which view he supported by the authority of Chancellor Thurlow. If this is not an altar of justice, it is merely an altar of sacrifice. He said the Managers had taken no pains to conceal the party spirit and party hate which had hurried through the preparations for this procedure. He read some declarations on the subject made by the Managers in the Peck trial. He called attention to the words of one of the Managers, who spoke of the Senators as headsmen standing on the scaffold with their swords ready, they having tried the culprit on the night of February 21st, assertions which he charactized as insulting to the Court, cruel and unwarranted. He read from debates on the formation of the Constitution, to show that the power to impeach and try the President was granted with hesitation to the Senate, and that only because of the reliance placed upon their observance of a judicial oath.

Mr. Evarts then dwelt on the tremendous power and meaning of the little words "truth," "oath," "justice," and "duty," and appealed to the Senators to brace themselves by all their integrity truly and justly to observe their oaths and perform their solemn duty. At the conclusion of his eloquent exordium the Court and Senate adjourned at 4:20.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

A copy of the new Constitution of South Carolina was laid before the House. Referred to Reconstruction Committee.

Bills admitting South Carolina, North Carolina and Louisiana were presented and referred to the same Committee.

A resolution inquiring into the sale of the iron clads Neota and Catawba to Alexander Swift by the Navy Department was introduced by Mr. WASHBURNE and agreed to.

Mr. PIKE introduced the following joint resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Be it Resolved, &c., That the President be requested to send a sufficient number of vessels of war to the fishing grounds in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, adjacent to British provinces, for the purpose of the protection of American vessels in the exercise of their rights, as recognized in the treaty of 1783, within one marine league of the line as it follows the indentations of the coast, and also for the purpose of taking care that the valuable property in ships shall not be confiscated for alleged infractions of the provincial rights on the fishing grounds, and that whatever punishment for trespass is inflicted shall be in proportion to the pecuniary injury occasioned by the offense.

The House then accompanied the Impeachment Managers to the Senate.

Child Outraged and Murdered.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ATICA, April 28.—A horrible tragedy was enacted Saturday last at Pond Hill, four miles east of Camden village, this county, about three o'clock. A little girl, eight years old, daughter of Levi Sanders, was brutally outraged a short distance from her father's house. Her throat was then cut and her head smashed with a stone or some other implement. William Henry Casewell has been arrested for committing the horrible deed. Casewell is said to be a simple fellow, and there is little doubt that he is an irresponsible character.

Trial of Fenian Prisoners for Felony—Debate in Parliament on the Irish Church Question—German Zolverein.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

GREAT BRITAIN.

TRIAL OF FENIAN PRISONERS.

LONDON, April 28.—It is said Gen. Nagle's trial is appointed for May 9th.

All the Clerkenwell explosion prisoners, except Barrett, who was convicted, have been set at liberty.

The trial of Burke, Casey and Shaw commenced to-day, Justice Brownwell presiding. The Court House was full and great interest is manifested. Counsel for the Crown were the same as in the case of the Clerkenwell explosionists. Those for the prisoners were as follows: Ernest, Jones and McDonald for Burk, Lewis for Casey and Porter for Shaw. Mr. Jones asked for a mixed jury for Burke, on the ground that he was an alien. The counsel for the Crown objected, whereupon proof was offered in the shape of a passport signed by United States Minister Adams. The validity of the proof was argued, when the Court overruled its admissibility and denied the motion for a mixed jury. The counsel for the Crown said the case against the prisoners was of felony, in making war against the Queen, which, under the act of 1848, was punishable by transportation for two to seven years, and then proceeded to open the case for the prosecution.

Counsel for the Crown said they should rest their case principally on the testimony of Delany and Massey.

Cogan was sworn and testified as follows: Knew the prisoner Burke in the United States; Burke was sent out from America to buy arms in England for the rising in Ireland; afterwards saw Burke and Shaw in Liverpool; met them at Fenian meetings; was with them when the attack on Chester Castle was planned, and when the insurrection broke out in Ireland; the principal English cities were to be fired and destroyed.

PARLIAMENT DEBATES.

LONDON, April 28.—Midnight.—In the House of Lords to-night Lord Derby made a speech, in which he attacked the resolves of Mr. Gladstone on the Irish Church, and accused Lord Russell of vacillation of position on the question. He said the resolves, adopted by only one of the Houses of Parliament, were without binding force on the Crown, but if a bill was duly passed it would be then obligatory. He criticised Lord Russell's altered views on the subject, and hoped by the defeat of this scheme Ireland would be saved from discord.

Mr. Massey testified that he saw Burke commissioned in America to raise an insurrection in Ireland; afterwards saw Burke in London and sent him over to Ireland.

Lord Russell followed. He said he was amazed to see Lord Derby opening this question here while it was pending in the lower House. He declared with much earnestness the peace of Ireland was the aim of his life. He defended his course on the ground that inconsistency in means was not incompatible with consistency in the end sought to be attained. He acknowledged that he preferred his own plan for the solution of the difficulties in Ireland, but accepted the plan of Mr. Gladstone as the most practicable under the circumstances. If the resolves pass the House, he should submit an appropriate bill, which he believed would be sustained by the Commons, by public opinion, and would without doubt command the assent of the Lords. He hoped the Ministry would not attempt to influence the Crown adversely to the will of the Commons, as a commission between the Crown and Commons would be most deplorable.

In the Commons D'Israeli, in answering a question from the opposition benches, said the Ministry wished for the fullest discussion of the Irish Church question.

Mr. Gladstone hoped the debate would not delay the business of the House in that light. He deplored the time wasted last night in party recrimi nations.

FROM INDIA.

LONDON, April 28.—Official dispatches have been received from the Indian Government, which state that Yakood Khaw has obtained an important victory over the Russians and expelled them from Kaudahar.

GERMANY.

BERLIN, April 27.—The Diet of Zolverein, now in session here, has chosen Herr Simpson President and Prince Hohenlohe Vice President.

CORRECTION.—The speech of the King of Prussia, which was erroneously represented as having been made at the opening of the North German Parliament, was delivered at the opening of the Zolverein Diet, which commenced its session yesterday.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

LONDON, April 28.—Evening.—Consols steady at 93¾@93¾. American Securities quiet. Five-Twenties, 70¼. Erie, 47; Illinois Central, 94¾.

FRANKFORT, April 28.—Evening.—United States bonds firm, at 75½.

ANTWERP, April 28.—Evening.—Petroleum heavy at 47¼ francs.

LIVERPOOL, April 28.—Evening.—Cotton closed dull and a fraction lower; sales of 10,000 bales, with considerable doing to arrive; Middling on spot, 13⅞d.; to arrive, 13¼d; Orleans, 13½d. Advices from Manchester are favorable. Yarns and Fabrics are firm and active. Breadstuffs quiet. Corn steady at 18s. 3d. Provisions—Lard active and advancing; sales at 67s. 3d.; other articles quiet and unchanged. Produce—Rosin advanced to 7s. for common Wilmington. Petroleum dull; declined to 1s. 1d. for standard white. Other articles unchanged.

Fires in Canada.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BRIGHTON, CA., April 28.—R. Perkins' drug store and several adjoining buildings were destroyed by fire last night. Loss $25,000.

SARNIA, April 28.—Two fires occurred here last night, destroying property valued at $20,000.

Express Office Robbed.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MEMPHIS, April 28.—The Southern Express officers here have received information that the express office at Hempstead, Texas, was robbed of a large amount of currency and gold on the 16th by D. C. Otis, formerly an employé of the Adams Express, and well known throughout the North. Otis escaped.

FRANKLIN, PA.

The Oil Regions—The Allegheny Valley Railroad—The City of Franklin—Its Sights and Improvements—Cruel Infanticide—Public Parks.

Special Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

FRANKLIN, PA., April 28th, 1868.

The Oil Regions of Pennsylvania have not lost all their interest to the general reader. Although hundreds and thousands sicken at the mere mention of the localities, because, forsooth, visions arise of dollars innumerable—dollars gained by hard toil in the counting-room, warehouse or workshop—which went down into the bowels of the earth through a three inch hole, and never more cropped out again to gladden their hearts. How much money there was lost up among these barren hills and wasting lands would be a hard matter to conjecture, but that the aggregate was immense is told by the thousands of mocking, ghostly, dry, rattling derricks, whose only mission now is to point heavenward for comfort rather than earthward for consolation. The little perforations at their bases, down which were crammed arm loads of greenbacks, are now as dry as the heart of an Egyptian mummy; the hills and valleys about, which were drawn on faithful maps in lines of gold and illumined with diamond points to tempt stock taking from the multitude, have lost their beautiful plumage and sunk back into primitive unsightliness. The wonderful manifestations, (which Geologists painted at fifty dollars per diem,) the dipping hills, the wash bowls of Madam Nature's household formed by capering mountains running down into the lap of rugged vales, the certain evidences of volcanic eruptions, the oil oozing, like the water called by Moses, out of ragged rocks, the ancient legends of Poor Lo, who established and maintained a first-class apothecary shop on the spot and peddled petroleum as the elixir of youth in days long gone by, have all lost their charms, have gone back, retrograded into a commonplace order of things, and, with burnt fingers crammed down into empty pockets the army of oil speculators reason that experience is the school for making wise men, and congratulate themselves on having graduated at —— dollars' cost. We have trained in that school, and now propose to make a tour through this region to write up what we happen to see, and without any idea of again inflicting our readers with highly drawn sketches of sections A. B. and Z. of Griasum or Flaxem's territory, or in order to induce the rapid development of the dangerous oil fever. We are innocent of any such intention, and indeed, had we come here charged with any such malicious design on your readers, our heart would have failed us when we caught sight of the army of derricks which told such woful tales of mis-spent fortunes. Nor will we theorize on oil, or the morality of stock jobbing, but proceed with

THE ALLEGHENY VALLEY ROAD.

The first thing that comes under our notice is the Allegheny Valley Railroad, on which, owing to our known prejudice against the dead head system, and especially from the determination of our worthy fellow citizen, Col. William Phillips, we hold no annual pass, and hence can speak honestly about it. It is one of the most important iron bands which our city boasts, for it binds it in close communion with the richest oil regions of the world. It is well laid and settled, and as free from the causes which lead to so many accidents as any road in the country. Ably managed, every train in charge of experienced men, its time tables arranged with the utmost care and precision, passing through and into the heart of the Pennsylvania oil regions, travelers should bear in mind its many advantages. The road we are assured is deriving vast revenue from the travel and freight tapped by the extension to Venango City. Accidents will happen of course in the best regulated families, and this road is no exception to the general rule. But when accidents do happen, they cannot be traced to the management of the road, as every precaution that human wisdom can dictate is taken to make secure the lives of passengers traveling over it.

FRANKLIN.

This aspiring city—for into a city it has expanded within a month, and may now be regarded as full fledged—has excited so much attention and comment during the rise, progress and decline of the oil trade, that it is scarcely necessary to enter into any description of its beauties, or argument on its business characteristics. It possesses the elements of stability. It had prosperity before the outbreaking of the oil fever, and slowly but surely ripened under the fresh impetus given things in the oil regions during the exciting days of speculation. While partaking largely of that energy and enterprise which caused new cities to spring up, Aladdin like, in a night, almost within hailing distance from its boundaries, it gave way to no undue excitement, but pursued the even tenor of its way. Its good folk were satisfied to receive the money thrown into circulation and to render full value for service, of course reserving a legitimate reasonable profit therefrom. The only evidence that we could discover of the town's having "pumped out of its boats" in the flush times of king petroleum, is in the way of a mammoth hotel, "Franklin Exchange," which would do credit to a metropolitan city, but is decidedly too ponderous and massive for Franklin. It is first class throughout and—although its great expectations were never realized, as it was thrown open to the public at the season when Culver pulverized the finances of the country and when the oil excitement had passed its zenith, and when a decline set in—still it is kept up in elegant style and the stranger partaking of its hospitality could find no fault with Franklin. Franklin as a business place will compare favorably with most cities in the State. Trade has been fair during the past few months, but as a general thing the merchants feel the same tightening up of the money market as those of your own and other cities. There are many new buildings of private and public character approaching completion. A magnificent church structure, pressed brick with cut stone facings, is being built for the Presbyterians, and an equally fine and massive edifice is being erected by the Methodists. Both of these buildings would do credit to an avenue like your own Fifth street. The most charming little church edifice we have ever seen is that recently put up here by Episcopalians. It is of cut stone, one story high, with conical roof of shingled slate, and boasts a very elegant spire. The cross is so much used in decorating and giving finish to the building that the Catholic stranger might very readily mistake the church for one of his own denomination. There are a number of other beautiful church edifices which are worthy of special note, but it will suffice to say that the christians here evince proper energy and enterprise in providing fit places wherein to invoke the blessing of God and to work out that salvation promised the good and repentant.

Franklin needs a little progressive enterprise—young blood you may call it. She is slow in some things. Notwithstanding the fact that two railways pierce its centre and abundant railway facilities; that she has a well regulated water works, a steam fire engine, two hose companies, plenty of churches, the best public school house in the State, the finest board walks and many other evidences of enterprise, still she lacks others which strike the stranger who takes the time to examine into the many natural advantages derived from her geographical position and the geological riches about the doors. The city needs a smelting furnace, an iron mill, a nail factory, oil refineries, a woolen mill. With such additions, to convert the quiet town into a noisy, active, busy and bustling manufacturing site, other localities in the State, which we might mention, would be forced to take back seats But these are bound to come in due course of time, and with them more wealth, population and importance for Franklin.

PUBLIC PARKS.

Allegheny like, the city of Franklin, owing to the wisdom and foresight of those who laid out the town, has two public parks, each covering considerable ground, but, also like Allegheny, neither one of them improved. On one of these breathing spots is erected the

THE SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

In a broad, green square, a noble evidence of the patriotism and loyalty of Venango county, stands in cold grandeur a Soldiers' Monument. As a work of art we can pay it no very great praise, but as a solid, neat and appropriate mark of respect to the fallen brave it is all that could be desired. There are upwards of eleven hundred names engraved on the shaft, among which we notice that of Major General Alexander Hays, of your county. The monument stands in the heart of the city, where all strangers will see it and be made aware that Venango is proud to honor the memory of those who laid down their lives that their country might live and conquer rebellion. Allegheny county, though slower to move in like recognition of the brave dead, is about to erect a suitable monument, and why should not she profit by the example set in all other localities of erecting her monument in some public place, where all might see it, and especially where strangers can pay respect at the shrine of the departed.

THE CEMETERY.

Franklin boasts of a very neat cemetery, wherein rests the remains of hundreds of its people. It is on the hillside at the suburbs of the city, within a few minutes' walk of the Court House. As a general thing the monuments are not very expensive or artistic, most of them having been erected some thirty or forty years ago. The Evans monument is the finest, and a neat piece of workmanship it is. Some of the epitaphs savor of the tombstone wit of the poet. We never could see the propriety of little blossoms of two years gathered to bloom in heaven made figure as counsellors to grown and hardened sinners like ourselves, to follow into eternity and (run the risk) enjoy the pleasures which the aforesaid little ones must enjoy. The cemetery is very creditable to the city, and were we to choose a resting place, a selection we hope to indefinitely postpone, none offers more attractions. It would exactly fill the injunction of Archbishop Hughes, "bury me in the sunshine," for it receives the first and last smile of his solar majesty from morning till night.

A LOCAL ITEM.

Franklin is a city; genteel and exquisite cruelty is an attribute of a large municipality. Paris receives credit for the delicious discoveries in the art suicide she has made during the past decade of years; Franklin, not a month old as a city, has made rapid progress in another line of crime—the art infanticide. Listen to a new and novel way of disposing of burdensome offspring. The hour between midnight and the dawn which ushered in last Saturday witnessed the depositing on the sidewalk of Liberty street a suspicious looking carpet sack, shut up as close as an oyster. The people of Franklin are proverbially honest, and not knowing to whom the sack belonged, passed and re-passed it for nine hours, without touching it. At about three o'clock on Saturday afternoon a venturesome gentleman approached near enough to the sack to hear a wee, small voice, not from his conscience, however, but from the bag. He called assistance, doubtless thinking that a full grown Fenian armed with nitro glycerine lay coiled up in the ominous looking bag. (Of course it was too small for that, but you know the Fenian would do any thing after attempting to get possession of the sacred person of the Queen in order to poison her with small doses). The bag was opened, and, lo and behold, there was a new born babe bandaged with common linen and tied up in an old faded blanket. The child was able to kick for itself, but was almost frozen to death. Kind ladies took possession of the little unknown, which would have been called Franklin, only it was'nt the Franklin kind, and it was splendidly cared for. The old ladies—for desertion and infanticide are new things up here where the people are only too glad to have such additions to the population, provided, however, they come in the legal way—were afforded much food for gossip over the baby and many a peering pair of eyes scanned closely the faintly marked features of the little deserted to discover some facial resemblance to certain rakes, but with what success we are not advised. The little babe died on Saturday. Its murderers are known but to the Searcher of all hearts. The parents may escape legal punishment, but the wail of that little frozen and half suffocated babe will sound in their ears forever.

[It is suspected that the babe was brought to the city by a stranger from some other section. We arrived here the day after its finding and do not even carry any baggage. Explanations are sometimes in order, and we feel it to be in this case.]

FINE STONE.

There is dug out of the hill sides in this neighborhood a quality of stone which is decidedly superior for building and finishing purposes to the Freeport article, which finds its way to our market. It is close and solid, of a delicate lead white shade, and can be moulded with the chisel into any desired shape. It is hard to break and masons agree that it is much superior to any other for rough handling while cutting, while it is equally good for all purposes, combining durability and beauty.

CITY OIL WELLS.

The wells which once produced oil on the main streets of Franklin have very sensibly dried up. What a mortification it would be to the present city to have right under its nose foul smelling, greasy tanks, tubes and tubs. How could the worthy Council provide for the storage of petroleum within the city limits if these old holes continued to spew up their olegeanous deposits. Notwithstanding the fact that the owners of the wells sadly mourn the evil day when the oil ceased flowing, we are inclined to rejoice that the dignity of the new city cannot be brought into question on this score.

PUBLIC SCHOOL HOUSE.

No better idea can be formed of the character of a people who go to make up a city than that formed from the three great thermometers which register the heat and cold of the local sentiment of communities,—the press, the pulpit, the school house. The former is ably represented by the Citizen and Spectator, two thriving and well-to-do journals, which are conducted with decided ability. The former represents the principles of the Union Republican party and is a clear, outspoken journal. Alex. McDowell, Esq., a young gentleman of culture and high scholastic attainments, is the editor. Of the churches we have heretofore spoken, and we will now speak of the Public School.

We are among those who have consistently held that the future glory of America is to be derived through public schools. In spite of the opposition to them brought by those who would recognize caste in society, they have flourished, and nearly every town and village rejoices in the possession of a public school. The proud edifice erected in Franklin is in keeping with the energy and enterprise of the people. It is without any exception the finest public school house in the State and doubtless the very finest and most complete in the country. Built with the best of materials, in the most modern and approved style, having all the accommodations for teachers and pupils desired, it is so thorough and complete that we hardly dare any description of it. Outwardly it presents a magnificent appearance, being three stories high, and built of fine pressed brick, elegantly ornamented with cut stone facings. The wood work is grained with taste and varnished so as to appear highly reflective, while the roof and cupola are finished in a manner which detracts nothing from the general beauty of the edifice. Inwardly this building is a model one. It is entered from both sides, and the front and the rear. Broad steps of oak, with exquisitely neat balustrades, lead to the upper stories from the front and back of the building, terminating on each floor with a broad platform, opening into capacious halls or passage-ways. The class rooms are marvelously neat and elegant. The walls are covered with virgin white plaster and the ceilings decorated with rich mouldings and elaborate stucco work. The desks are made of cherrywood, a color not dark enough, as the ample windows on either side of the class rooms flood the rooms with heaven's unadulterated light, and there is tameness in the blending colors which amounts to monotony. There are twelve large class rooms, one teacher for each room. Every department is provided with a tastefully fitted up ordinary for the use of scholars and teachers. The higher branches of education are taught here, and scholars have all the advantanes of a collegiate course. The principal, H. A. Strong, Esq., is quite a young man, but he is thoroughly educated and possesses a knack of imparting knowledge to the scholars under his charge which commends him to the confidence of those interested in the welfare of the school. He partakes largely of the progressive spirit of the age and fills our idea of what constitutes a successful tutor. He is ably assisted by eleven lady teachers, who have had liberal education and experience. If Franklin needed a redeeming feature, which we are glad to say it does not, it has it in the Union Public School, supported entirely out of the taxes paid by willing contributors. More anon. H.

THE CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, April 28, 1868.

PARIS EXPOSITION AWARDS.

In addition to the 200 Gold Medals and Diplomas awarded at the Paris Exposition to Americans, and now exhibited in the old Hall of Representatives, one hundred more were received to-day. The distribution will be made in the course of a week.

WHISKY TAX.

It appears from the official statement that during the first three months of this year about three million three hundred thousand dollars were received from tax on distilled spirits. A few districts have failed to make returns.

REPORT APPROVED.

The President has approved the report of the Commissioners that the fourteenth section of twenty-five miles of the Union Pacific Road, Eastern Division, is completed, and ordered the issuance of bonds and patents for lands therefor.

COMPOUND NOTES MATURING.

The amount of compound interest notes maturing and payable after April 1st, 1868, is stated at the Treasury as $51,403,560.

SOUTHERN STATE ELECTIONS.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

GEORGIA.

SAVANNAH, April 28.—The total city vote: for the new Constitution, 2,894; against, 2,646; Bullock, for Governor, received 2,854; Gorden, 2,685; Clift, Republican, for Congress, 2,816; Fitch, Democrat, 2,691; Bradley, colored, Republican, for State Senate, 2,752, and Lester, Democrat, received 2,697.

AUGUSTA, April 28.—Unofficial counts of ninety counties give Bullock, Radical, 2,268 majority. Forty-two counties are still to hear from, which will probably lessen Bullock's majority and leaves the result of the election doubtful.

LOUISIANA.

NEW ORLEANS, April 28.—In special orders No. 90 General Buchanan appoints a Board of three officers to examine and count the votes of the late election and to report the result to the Commanding General of the District. The Board will make separate reports of votes on the Constitution and for members of Congress.

Won a Lottery Prize of $75,000.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

ST. LOUIS, April 28.—Wm. Glasgow, a member of the firm of Glasgow Brothers, heavy grocers in this city, has just won one half the capital prize in the Madrid Lottery, amounting to $75,000 in gold. Mr. Glasgow had been spending the winter in Havana, where he purchased the ticket.

—At a meeting of the American Industrial League at New York, yesterday, speeches were made by Peter Cooper, Horace Greeley, Rev. Herman Baker, of Tennessee, and others. Letters were read from Senator Wade and E. B. Ward, of Detroit, sympathizing with the objects of the meeting. Resolutions were adopted favoring liberal encouragement to domestic manufactures, a revision of the tariff, increased taxes on luxuries, the discarding of ad valorem duties and introduction of specific duties to the utmost possible extent, the most stringent economy in the public service, the most rigid measures for the prevention of fraud and peculation in revenue, and the keeping of the public faith with the national creditors unbroken.

—A sad affair occurred on Monday at Lockland, Ohio, ten miles from Cincinnati. Mrs. Hudson, a colored woman, left her two young children alone in her house for about a half an hour. During her absence the house caught fire and the children were burned to death before assistance could be rendered.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

THE FAREWELL.

Sweet were the days we've spent together,
Sad must the hour of our parting be;
Through the broad meadows in summer weather,
Pleasant the path that is waiting for thee;
In the red west, where the sun is sinking,
Deep through the shadows lies my way;
And I must onward while step watching,
Thou knowest all that my heart would say.

What shall I give thee for farewell token?
How shall I speed thee, with love or with care?
Think of the words that we have spoken,
Take them for wishes, and count them for prayer;
Oh! be thou wise when life, caressing,
Would woo thee to linger, would win thee to stay;
Keep in thy soul its earliest blessing—
Thou knowest all that my heart would say.

Oft o'er my soul will a sudden yearning
Bring back the days we are leaving behind;
Bring me thy footstep, no longer returning,
Bring me thy greeting, so gay and so kind;
How shall I bless thee? No longer beside thee,
I can but love thee, and loose thee, and pray;
Yet will God love thee, and keep thee, and guide thee—
Thou knowest all that my heart would say!

EPHEMERIS,

—Jean Ingelow is thirty-eight years old.

—A dog crusade has been begun in Chicago.

—There are nine Mormon temples in London.

—Sergeant Bates, like Washington and Napoleon, has his imitators.

—Judy calls an unsigned will a nameless deed, thus taking the will for the deed.

—One of Du Pont's powder rolling mills exploded on Saturday. No one was hurt.

—Mandarin Burlingame will sail from San Francisco for New York on the 30th inst.

—"Johnson will die game if he dies at all."—Exchange. What sort of game, hare or fox?

—If ten New Yorkers own one-tenth of the assessed property in that city, how many own it all?

—The unfortunate Giraffe in the London Zoölogical Gardens is suffering from two yards of sore throat.

—Matthew Arnold describes Hepworth Dixon's book as a history of the Mormons by one of themselves.

—The Duke of Wellington owned twelve overcoats, but a young lady in New York has eighteen cloaks, all new.

—The Tomahawk says the cradle is the nutshell in which every boy appears a kernel (Colonel) to his mother.

—Charles Dickens' net profit in America were $100,000 in gold and three large packing cases of miscellaneous presents.

—"Hens," says Basil, "are very dangerous animals, especially when they begin laying about them pretty vigorously."

—Howard Paul has gone to Rome. How hard Paul was treated the last time he went to Rome, some eighteen centuries ago.

—Mrs. G. H. Pendleton patronizes the "German." This is supposed to be a dodge to win the Teutonic vote to her husband.

—Parson Brownlow does not want the Vice Presidency. There are many men who don't want it—until they think they can get it.

—Anna Dickinson has found her voice again. We had hoped that it was still for ever, but it seems to be still for womens rights.

—John Brougham has abandoned his ancient line and has taken to the heavier roads of the drama. He is writing a play for Booth.

—The Boston Post says that nearly all of its readers are early risers. We take this to be a delicate way of hinting at a limited circulation.

—Sir John Pakington has the chicken pox. The baronet has some time ago achieved the mumps, whooping cough and measles.

—Mr. Dickens went to the Circus in New York and saw the Cynocephalus. What he thought of it is still as riddle-iculous as the sphynx.

—Cardinal Bonaparte rides in the carriage with the Pope. He is only a young Cardinal but will, he hopes, some day be able to ride alone.

—John C. Green has given Princeton College $120,000 and a deed of a farm. Why will not some one do likewise for our own University?

—Queen Victoria has been to the church which William the Conqueror used to attend. She didn't see Bill however, and only staid a short time.

—Two suicides per day is all that Paris can do in that line, and she only does that much because otherwise business would be dull—at the morgue.

—Rossini dotes on asparagus. He wants his grave to be covered with a bed of these vegetables, although an oat or two would be more appropriate.

—The Pall Mall Gazette is called the "most implacable of censors." We should style it the most polished of journals and the best paper in England.

—An editor in Algeria was punished not long ago for predicting a famine. Now the French government has sent $80,000 to relieve the famishing Algerians.

—A man starved himself to death in the jail at Danbury, Conn., because he couldn't get out; otherwise the starvation process would have been carried on elsewhere.

—Missouri has passed a law to prevent husbands from abandoning their wives. It is supposed that this act will decrease the number of abandoned women in that State.

—Her Majesty's theatre is to be rebuilt at a cost of $335,000. Walesey is to lay the corner stone. He has gotten so used to laying now that he rivals the hens themselves.

—Mr. Wentworth Dilke has written a new book about America, called Greater Britain. It is said to be fresh and fair, two qualities which rarely characterize an English work.

—Heenan has turned storekeeper. He did it in New York, and his shop is under what once was known as the Maison Dorée. He expects to attract the jeunessee dore as his customers.

—The Boston Post speaking of the effect of a bright day on the Hub, says: "Washington street was radiant with the bloom of female beauty. Some seemed natural and some—acquired."

—Old King Louis, of Bavaria, left eight coffers, one of which is to remain unopened until 1968, and the rest until 1918. For what are these coffers? Perhaps to make a a dam in the tide of curiosity.

—Swinging on a trapeze by the teeth is the latest acrobatic feat in London. It is supposed to be the invention of a dentist who has a large supply of false dentals on hand and for sale.

—Lotta is in Cincinnati doing up Little Nell. Lotta is also doing up the Cincinnatians. There is an excitement about her in that smoky city, but Lotta don't care. Like the eels, she is used to it.

—Mr. Carlyle owns a farm at Craigenputtock, Scotland, and when he writes to his tenant about the management of it, it is said that his letters are as intelligible and sane as those of any other man.

—Tennyson has come back to us, not in silly driblets of still sillier verse, but in another grand poem, where the legions who look upon him as "the great poet" can revel in the consciousness of his genius.

—The mystery of the "Life and Passion of Our Lord Jesus Christ" will not be performed again at Ammergau, in the Tyrol, until 1873. Baroness Tautphoeus gave an excellent description of it in Quits.

—La Marquise de Gallifet is going to Africa in search of her husband. The poor Marquis when he fled from his conjugal relation had probably no idea that she would follow him and carry the war into Africa.

—An exchange says "the Greek fire at Buckingham Palace is paralleled by the brimstone in the United States Capitol." This exchange may be set down as pretty far gone, if he already begins to smell brimstone.

—The latest agony in Berlin is for a family, to retire and leave the gas turned on. The next morning, there is plenty of mourning for the family is dead. Several families have introduced this novelty with suffocating success.

—Buffalo, not being satisfied with water works, now thinks of having pipes laid from the principal breweries of that city through the streets to the various houses of the citizens. A beer meter would decide what each was to pay.

—The Boston Post calls the Ku-klux-klan excitement a humbug. If the Boston Post man had his house burned down and his own throat and those of his wife and children cut, his opinion, if he had any left would be slightly altered.

—To the list of conundrums, who was the first man? who was the oldest man? etc., etc., it is proposed to add, who were the most disappointed men? and the answer will be, the heirs of Elias Howe, Jr., who expected millions and got nothing.

—Dickens said Curtis was the very best speaker he ever heard. And yet he can't speak half as well as he writes, in witness of which statement see "Lotus Eating," "Trumps," "Potiphar Papers," and "the Easy Chair," in Harper's Magazine.

—Father Ignatius, in London, is despondings; he has been treated badly; his monastery, at Norwich, England, has been turned into a cheese warehouse, and what is far worse, no one will martyrize him by ridiculing his habit of going about in a gown, barefooted.

—An insane man living in Foxdale, Isle of Man, threw his five children into a well, attempted without success to treat his wife in the same way, and then jumped in himself. Help arrived and all were taken out, but the man himself and three of his children were already dead.

—Poor Willam Seward, once the greatest of the great statesmen of the country, honored with the best seats in the high places of the country, and now "on Friday Mr. Seward sat on the floor of the Senate Chamber" and nobody said William wilt thou not go up higher?

Dana, in the Sun, has tried to nominate Mayor Hoffman for President, Minister to the Court of St. James and Governor of New York. Like Phæton who once tried th drive the sun, he seems inclined to run things into the ground. We hope that his punishment may not be as severe.

—Mrs. Cady Stanton calls General Grant "a drunken soldier." Mrs. Stanton ought not to be so severe; she should reflect how dreadfully poor, little, insignificant Grant, who is merely General of the Armies of the United States, must feel when he learns what the great Mrs. Stanton thinks of him.

—The London Spectator says "Gifts of princely amounts—amounts which would yield fortunes in mere interest, have been repeatedly made to great American cities, to colleges, to libraries, and during the lifetime of the donors, but we can scarcely recall an instance of the kind in Great Britain."

—In London on the 6th of June the Newspaper Press Fund people will have a banquet at which H. R. H. the Duke of Cambridge will preside. Why this gentleman is thus chosen, we are unable to learn. He has never been a newspaper man, and if it is on account of his rank, why it is sheer snobbery.

—Arkansas furnishes artificial legs to all persons in that State who lost their natural ones in the war. As the National Government supplies ex-Union soldiers who need them, with false limbs, this may be considered as a mask of charity to cover up the fact that ex-rebels who are cripples receive false limbs from that State.

—Mrs. Senator Sprague's bonnet is thus described by an enthusiastic contributor to the Philadelphia Press: She has copied her bonnet from the pansy or wood violet. A single flower of lilac tinge, large enough for the 'new style,' rests upon her head, and is fastened to its place by lilac tulle so filmy that it must have been stolen from the purple midst of the morning.

—Most of the American magazines and reviews this month have something about Boston in them. The Boston publications of course do as they have always done. This is all supposed to be a sort of conspiracy which these sons of the Pilgrim Fathers have entered into to bring their town prominently before the public, partly to try and induce an influx of strangers to patronize their new hotel and partly to try and overcome the bad effects of Mr. Canards vital blow at their commerce.

New York Dry Goods Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 28.—The Dry Goods trade is a little more animated, but is far from active, yet Heavy Brown Sheetings are quoted 1c firmer. Atlantic A, Appleton A, Indian Head Cohassetts and Pegnot A. at 19c; Stark A. 18½c; New Market R. R, and Laurel D. 18c: Printing cloths more active at 9½c for poor and 9¾c for good standard makes, but holders are now asking 10c. East Prints have been moving more freely, and for low and medium grades the market is firmer. Freeman's now bring 12c and all dark styles of Lancaster, Oriental and other marks have been closed, so no good prints can be had below 14a15c, at which price Amoskeag, Richmonds and Spragues are selling. There is some talk about advancing prints, but the demand is not active enough yet.

RIVER NEWS.

The Allegheny river was falling slowly yesterday with scant six feet water. The Monongahela marks did not show over four feet ten inches and falling.

The Julia No. 2 departed for Zanesville with a moderate trip. The Lorena, for St. Paul, had all the freight she could manage.

A new steamer, called the "Mountain Boy," came in from Brownsville, we believe. She is intended for the Kanawha trade.

The steamers Armenia and Silver Cloud are due.

The steamer Julia No. 2 left last evening for Zanesville with an excellent trip.

The Grey Eagle, in charge of Capt. C. L. Brennan, leaves to-day at noon for Parkersburg and way points.

The fine packet Kate Robinson, Capt. R. Robinson, is announced for Cincinnati and Louisville. She will leave with dispatch.

The Selma, a new boat built at Pittsburg, was to have been sold at New Orleans on Thursday.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—The Argosy, Captain Vandergrift, W. H. Scott, clerk, is the regular Wednesday packet for Cincinnati, leaving promptly at noon. Shippers will please get their bills of lading down as early in the day as possible.

The Glendale, Capt. Hare, is filling up steadily for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi; and the Kate Robinson, Capt. Robinson, is announced for Cincinnati and Louisville.

The Lorena, Capt. Sam Shuman, is up for St. Louis. She will receive all the Upper Mississippi freight that may offer in connection with the Northern Line Packet Company.

The Wild Duck Barges, Capt. Anawalt, is also announced for St. Louis forthwith. The Mary Davage will have her repairs finished to-day, and will leave for St. Louis to-morrow. Her barges are at Steubenville taking on nails.

The steamers Importer and Leonidas arrived at St. Louis on Saturday. The Messenger departed for Pittsburgh the same day. The R. C. Gray left Cincinnati on Saturday for this place. The J. N. McCullough was announced to leave Cincinnati on Saturday, and the St. Charles on Monday, both for this city.

INSURANCE ON THE STARLIGHT.—The side-wheel steamer Starlight, recently burned at Gretna, was valued at $15,000, and insured for $10,000 in the Eureka, Citizen's, National, and Adams offices, of Cincinnati.

JEFFERSONVILLE, April 26.—8 p. m.—River falling slowly, with 7 feet in the pass on the Falls. Clear; wind east. The towboat Mary Alice, with 9 barges in tow, divided up her tow and brought them over the Falls in four trips, two trips yesterday and two to-day. (Thomas Gray, Falls pilot.) She has now left for Pittsburgh with nine barges. Up stream water quiet today. D. M. DRYDEN, Falls Pilot.

FT. SMITH, ARK., April 19.—The Tahlequah arrived here from Ft. Gibson to-day, and leaves for Cincinnati to-morrow morning. We expect to load again at Cincinnati for Forts Smith and Gibson. We delivered 140 tuns of Government freight at Fort Gibson. River falling fast at Gibson and here. L. H. Abrams.

The Emma Floyd, from Nashville to Cincinnati, has the following freight for Pittsburgh: 418 sacks corn, 300 sacks meal, and 1 trunk.

ST. LOUIS.—The Republican, of Saturday, says: The wreck of the George D. Palmer, partially destroyed by fire a few days since, is now in the hands of the United States Marshal. The Ben. Johnson having been furnished with a new set of boilers, and undergone several other decided and material improvements is again at the wharf ready for business. At a meeting of the stockholders of the Atlantic and Mississippi Steamboat Company, the resignations of Superintendent John N. Bofinger and Secretary David R. Powell were received and accepted. John P. Fitzgerald was elected Secretary, and will attend also to the duties which have hitherto developed upon the Superintendent. W. J. Lewis and John W. Carroll continue holding the positions of president and freight agent. There was an unpleasant rumor the other day at Sioux City to the effect that Captain Tom Rea's mountain steamer, the Success, was high and dry on a bar below Randall.

CONTRACT AWARDED.—The contract for transporting 1,200 tuns of army supplies from St. Louis to Forts Sully, Rice and Stevenson, was on last Saturday morning awarded to Ben. Johnson and Fred Dozier. The rate of freight is exceedingly low.

We take the following memoranda from the St. Louis Republican, of Saturday: Steamer Kate Kinney left Omaha, Sunday, April 19th, at 7 a. m. Marcella in port. Met Glasgow at Plattsmouth; North Alabama at Liberty; Columbia at Jones' Point; Amelia Poe at Peru; Wauanitta and Dance at head Sonora Chute; Columbia at foot Sonora Chute; lay at St. Deroine, 20th—Met Guidon below Geary City; Viola Bella at Smith's Bar; Big Horn below; W. J. Lewis at Atchison; lay same place. 21st—Met Stonewall and Allen on a race below Diamond Island; Isabella at Irish Jemmies; Ackley at Wellington; lay at Lexington. 22d—Met War Eagle in Malta Bend; Yorktown in Punty Bend; Lacon at Miami; lay at Boonville. 23d—Met Post Boy at Commerce; McDonald at Luthe Island; lay at South Point. 24th—Met Turner and Last Chance above Cottleville; Jennie Lewis at Bonhomme Island; Fannie Barker and Urilda, below St. Charles.

EVANSVILLE, April 26.—Weather nearly clear and pleasant. River has fallen 27 inches. Port list—Champion, Cincinnati to St. Louis; Havana, Cincinnati to Nashville; Emma No. 3, St. Louis to Pittsburgh; Belle Vernon, Pittsburgh to St. Louis; Louisiana, Cincinnati to New Orleans.

Rivers and Weather.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, April 28.—River is falling slowly, 8 feet in Canal. Weather cloudy, threatening rain.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 139¼@139⅜.

WE LEARN that the contracts for the opening of the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad from its present terminus to Baltimore will be given out during the month of May, and to such persons as will push the work forward without unnecessary delay.

THE ARGUMENT of Manager Williams was finished soon after noon yesterday. He was followed by Mr. Evarts, for the President. When he concludes, an argument will be read or filed by Mr. Stanbery, and Mr. Bingham then concludes the case, which is not likely to be submitted to the Senate earlier than Saturday.

THE revenue of Great Britain is collected, it is stated, at a cost of nearly six per cent., while our own Treasury gets its dues at an expense of 2½ per cent. for internal taxes and 3½ per cent. for customs. It is not the cost of collecting our receipts that the people complain of: it is the rascally frauds by which the Government utterly fails to get much that it is entitled to.

AN informal caucus of Republican Senators on Saturday last resulted in an understanding that the impeachment trial should be brought to a conclusion without needless delay. Of course, the rumor, telegraphed from Washington by Tom, Dick and Harry, that a verdict would be purposely delayed until after the Chicago Convention, is, like the other stories that half a dozen Republican Senators, more or less, would vote for acquittal, mere bosh.

THE additional information which from time to time transpires, relative to the treaty of expatriation recently negotiated with Prussia, confirms the general confidence in the justice and completeness of its provisions. A letter from Minister BANCROFT, laid before the Senate on Monday, reiterates his previous explanations of its intent, upon which Count BISMARCK is in full accord. Our German-born citizens, having been duly naturalized, are entirely released from all military obligations in their native land, and no prosecution for an unauthorized emigration can be permitted. There can be no longer a reasonable doubt that this treaty was considered by the contracting powers on either side as a complete and decisive declaration of the right of expatriation, without any reservations or subtle distinctions whatever.

THE FOG is clearing up from the Georgia election, late returns indicating the success of the Republican State and Congressional tickets by decisive majorities. We trust that it may not be necessary to report a different result a day or two hence. Had the Rebel-Conservative-Democracy in fact carried that State, as they have steadily claimed up to yesterday, the fact would not have been without its consolations to Republicans. One solitary Democratic success under the Reconstruction laws, in either of the Southern States, by the aid of the colored vote, would put an effectual stop to all their "buncombe" appeals in behalf of a "white man's government." The doubts as to the result in Georgia have been entirely due to the very large support which the colored voters of that State gave to the Democratic ticket.

RETURNS to the License Court, from the city of Pittsburgh with its single suburb of Lawrenceville, show that the enormous amount of two millions of dollars was received in the district last year for sales of liquor by retail dealers. Add to this the amounts received by dealers in the populous districts which cover the farther banks of the two rivers, including Allegheny City, Birmingham and the lesser municipalities, and we should have a total swollen to at least three millions of dollars—a sum really frightful when we consider that its utterly useless expenditure has been attended not only with a proportionate denial of the comforts and even of the necessaries of life to thousands of suffering families, but also with a very large responsibility for all the outrages and crimes of the past twelvemonth in the county of Allegheny.

ENGLAND will cheerfully pay the millions which her Abyssinian expedition has cost, considering the price cheap for the protection of her citizens, in whatever foreign land. The success of her arms, remarkable rather as a victory over the material difficulties attending warlike operations in a remote and unknown land, than for the blood actually shed, will prove a fortunate thing for an otherwise unpopular ministry, and in that sense will be made the most of by Mr. Disraeli, to recall the public confidence in his administration. His comparison of the "conquest of Abyssinia" to that of Mexico by Cortez, is simply a bit of rhodomontade, or what is styled "buncombe" by Americans. The fifteen wounded and no killed, which compose the entire casualty list of the expedition, shows all the fighting to have been a mere farce—just what might have been expected when a handful of half naked savages oppose themselves to the discipline and equipments of scientific warfare. The plunder captured at Magdala will go but a little way in repaying the cost of this expedition, but a more profitable indemnity is likely to be secured in the establishment of an English colony permanently on the coast, and the eventual growth of English influence and trade through the interior of that region of Africa.

A CORRESPONDENT of a New York journal comments upon the complete omission of one strong and remarkable point from all the arguments of counsel on either side of impeachment, but which is correctly spoken of as forming an important element in the case against the President. It is this—that the order from the latter to Gen. THOMAS was so far regarded by the latter as a military order, that he considered it as justifying the use of force, if needed to carry it into effect; that, as a military order, the law of 1867 required it to be issued only through General GRANT, failing in which, the President was guilty of a misdemeanor as charged; that if construed as a civil order, Gen. THOMAS' assent was required, which, being in fact given, would sustain the charge of conspiracy. In military circles at the Capital, this is the dilemma in which the President is understood to be entrapped. They say that a military order itself implies the idea of force; its actual use is not essentially necessary. They add, moreover, that Gen. THOMAS was selected as the President's tool, not because he was a weak man, but, because, as Adjutant General, he was GRANT's official channel of communication with the army, which would thus have been as effectually seized as GRANT himself seized PEMBERTON's below Vicksburgh. The correspondent adds:

This point has been the subject of much discussion among military men, who quickly discovered the serious ramifications of the order in a military sense, and who saw at a glance that in seizing the office of Secretary of War and Adjutant General combined, in the person of Gen. Thomas, the President seized the army, the Freedmen's Bureau and the Military Reconstruction policy of Congress by the throat.

REVISION OF THE TARIFF.

Messrs. MOORHEAD, MAYNARD and NIBLACK, the Sub-Committee of the Ways and Means, to which has been confided the duty of preparing the draft of a Tariff bill for the consideration of the main Committee, will find themselves charged with difficult and delicate responsibilities. It may be too much to hope for that their labors should result in the adoption, not only by the Committee, but by both Houses of Congress, at this late period of the session, of a general tariff, wisely and comprehensively drawn, meeting all the exigencies of the Treasury, and treating our manufacturing interests, singly and collectively, with considerate justice. A task of such magnitude may well absorb the whole of an ordinary session. And, when framed and submitted to the House for debate, the history of previous tariff-bills shows clearly enough that the work is but fairly begun; and that, like all its predecessors, any general measure when once proposed gives rise to a protracted debate upon its multifarious details.

Unquestionably, it is desirable, if practicable, that the entire legislation of the country, relative to the collection of duties upon imports and of the internal excise, should be taken up, considered and adjusted as a whole, symmetrically, and with a just reference to the needs of the treasury and the reasonable demands of our productive industry. But we regard it as unlikely that any general measure of this sort will be perfected into a law at this session. If Congress shall succeed in disposing satisfactorily of a few special matters which are most urgently inviting their attention, it will be as much as we are likely to see accomplished now. The indications are all against any protraction of the present session, after such public business as is of the most pressing importance shall have been disposed of. A new administration is about to assume the execution of the laws. The revenue system of the country, as it is arranged by existing statutes, has been hitherto faultily or corruptly administered by the officers in charge. The conviction is universal that the substitution of honest and capable men in their places will result in a very large increase of the public income. Let us realize that confidence in the results of the impending change. Let us secure the ample returns which must follow an honest and efficient enforcement of the present laws, and the refilled treasury of the nation will simplify many difficult questions, both in the tax upon imports and in the internal excise, and, with the preservation of the national credit amply insured, will make it easy to grant to our industrial interests such further concessions as they may reasonably demand.

If a general revision of the tariff and internal taxes should fail at this session, as is probable, Congress will re-assemble in December, to meet the question deliberately, with freshened perceptions of the public requirements and of the special claims of the various industrial interests, and with a fair knowledge of the real worth of the present tax-laws when honestly administered. We are confident that these laws, as they now stand, will be found, when enforced once more by competent and faithful officers, to be justly exempt from a large share of the present complaints. It is as unfair to judge the existing revenue system by ANDREW JOHNSON's enforcement of it as it would be to condemn Reconstruction because he would practically defeat that if he could. We have so tied up his hands and hedged him about with limitations and prohibitions in the South, that the Congressional policy has had a reasonably fair show upon its own merits, and the results are rapidly accumulating their endorsement of its wisdom. What would have become of that policy if its execution had been confided to Mr. JOHNSON, with a discretion practically unlimited in his choice of agents and a latitude of construction in consonance with his unfriendly disposition? It is not to be doubted that, judging from the results of his administration of its provisions, the whole country would have agreed that Reconstruction was a failure. Such has been in some degree the public experience with its system of internal revenue. It has been administered by his officials, under his instructions, and as far as possible to promote his purposes. Whether places in the customs and profitable jobs were to be lavished on his friends and creatures, or its just income was to be diverted from the Treasury by whisky "rings" or other rascally combinations of his dependents, the effect of his administration has been to bring the entire system of revenue into discredit and seriously to impair the pecuniary resources of the nation. We hope to go through the Treasury halls with a new broom very soon, and, with the hangers-on, harpies, leeches and "rings," which are to be swept away, will disappear the causes for much of the existing dissatisfaction. By December, the country will see how much this amounts to. We are content to abide the result, and confident, moreover, that this result will materially simplify the labors of the Ways and Means Committee and of Congress in adjusting the public burthens upon all classes of the people.

OUR CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

The representation of the XXIId district, by Hon. JAMES K. MOORHEAD, will terminate with the present Congress. He absolutely and positively declines to be a candidate for a re-nomination. In a letter dated Washington, April 24, 1868, and addressed to a gentleman of this city, he says: "I "stated last June to the County Convention that I could not be a candidate for "nomination. My mind has undergone no "change. I am not a candidate. I did not "decline in favor of any person, but be"cause I desired and determined to retire." Gen. MOORHEAD has represented his fellow citizens of this district with ability and conspicuous fidelity, and will retire from their service at Washington with an esteem and confidence not only unimpaired but increased, and with an equally high National reputation worthily won. The city of Pittsburgh has been in many ways the gainer by committing her interests in Congress to the especial charge of a Representative whose personal and official influence have been second to none in the National Councils, and who bears with him in his retirement the sincerely grateful acknowledgments of an intelligent and patriotic constituency.

Upon the Republican Convention of the district, which sits in the coming June, will be incumbent the duty of selecting a successor in the representation. The Republicans of the district are a large, intelligent and powerful party. They are earnest and uncompromising in their political principles, and a nominee who shall be faithfully an exponent of their political faith, who shall adequately represent the intelligence and zeal with which they know how to maintain their opinions, and who shall duly comprehend the magnitude of the material interests to be committed to his charge, will be elected by the largest popular majority given in any district of the State. The Convention will feel a corresponding responsibility in making the selection. We are confident that this duty will be performed with a wise discretion which the Republicans of the district will heartily endorse at the polls.

Two gentlemen are prominently named as candidates before the Convention. There can be little doubt that the choice will fall upon one of these, and as little that the selection, whomever it may be, will be cordially approved by the masses of the Republican party. As between these two gentlemen, this journal takes no part in advocating the especial claims of either. But when the Convention shall have chosen either of them, or any other sound and capable Republican of the district, as its standard-bearer, we propose to do our part in promoting his success at the polls.

THE XXIIId. DISTRICT.

EDITORS GAZETTE: While the 22d Congressional district seems to be busily at work to secure the right man to succeed Gen. Moorhead, the 23d district seems to be doing nothing. Probably the people of this district are waiting to know whether our present able member, Thos. Williams, desires a renomination. I hope they will not wait for that, but at once come out and offer him the nomination and insist on his acceptance. There are cogent reasons why we should not, at this particular time, dispense with his valuable services. He has been faithful to his pledges, and stood at all times squarely on the Republican platform, and few, if any, members of the House can wield a greater influence on all the great questions before the Congress and the people. And it would be disastrous to this county to have two new members at the commencement of a new administration, whose influence either with Congress or the Executive would be diminished by comparative inexperience. Who understands our industrial interests better, or who can, with more or equal ability, defend those interests, in or out of Congress, than our present member? Then, Messrs. Editors, I, who am no professional politician, say, let Thos. Williams be nominated by acclamation by the people. ONE OF THEM.

THE new five cent coins from the Mint in Philadelphia are the size of the present piece; the three-cent and one-cent pieces are somewhat smaller. The devices on all of them are alike—on one side the head of the Goddess of Liberty, surrounded by the words "United States of America," on the other side are the Roman numerals I, III., and V.

Dr. Livingstone.

The following is Sir Roderick Murchison's letter to the London Times, giving an account of the intelligence received, not only of Dr. Livingstone's safety, but from Dr. Livingstone himself:

I have just received a letter from Dr. Kirk, at Zanzibar, dated February 4th, in which he announces the arrival of the Arab messenger, Bunduki, so long expected, who has brought with him dispatches and letters from Dr. Livingstone himself. The following is a very brief abstract of Dr. Kirk's long letter, which will be read before the Royal Geographical Society at their next meeting, on the 27th inst., before which time I trust the dispatches themselves will have reached England:

The information now received completely confirms the account of the route taken by Dr. Livingstone round the southern end of Lake Nyassa, which was brought home by the Livingstone Search Expedition. It appears that our great traveller proceeded northward at a long distance to the west of the lake, and in course of time arrived at Lobisa, formerly a thickly inhabited town, but now almost deserted. In these elevated lands, covered with humid forests and destitute of game, the party suffered much from hunger; but on approaching the southern extremity of Lake Tanganyika they reached Mtuka, in the Wemba country, where there was abundance of cattle and food, and where they recovered their strength. It was here that Livingstone met with the trading caravans from Zanzibar, and delivered the letters to Bunduki, who has had them twelve months in his possession. Reliable information has also been received at Zanzibar of the arrival of Livingstone at Ujiji, half way along the Lake Tanganyiki, where it is satisfactory to know that provisions, stores and letters sent from England and Zanzibar have long been waiting for him.

The clear and definite proofs obtained by the boat expedition to Lake Nyassa, under the command of Mr. Young, quite satisfied most of my countrymen that I had judged rightly in adopting the belief that the whole story of the murder of Dr. Livingstone was a falsehood. But since then many have doubted the possibility of my dear friend ever coming alive out of the heart of Africa.

With our present cheering information every one may now, however, enjoy with me the prospect of once more welcoming David Livingstone on his return to an admiring country.

Competition of the Sexes.

There is no fear whatever that man will ever suffer in the long run from the competition of women. There must always be a large class of avocations which only men can follow successfully. All callings which require tough nerve, a certain coarseness of mental texture, and the faculty of continuous attention from year to year, must, in the nature of things, be closed against the majority of women. The sensitive imitativeness of the sex will forbid such pursuits to women in general, and a large field of intellectual exertion must therefore remain essentially masculine. But the utmost that can happen is that men should be diverted from tasks which require but a portion of their faculties to others in which all their powers will be exercised and rewarded. And such a distribution of labor, so far as it was created, would necessarily act beneficially on the whole community. But in fact, much less than this would probably be effected. Three years are but a small portion of life, and however well a woman may employ them, she cannot change herself into the working machine which nine men out of ten are forced to become. It will still be in most cases her lot to bring up children, and act as the helpmate of her husband; but the better she is educated the more she will exemplify the truth that a helpmate to man should help him in every part of his nature. His mental constitution has hitherto been treated as somewhat beyond her power. To carry the influence of woman into this province will be the business of the new Female University.—St. James Record.

Arrival of the Chinese Embassy in California.

Anson Burlingame, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary from the Chinese Government to the Treaty Powers; Chih Tajen and Sun Tajen, Chinese Ministers; J. McLeary Brown, First Secretary of Legation; E. de Champs, Second Secretary of Legation; six student interpreters, two of whom have studied and speak English with considerable facility; two have studied French, and two Russian; two writers, a native doctor, and about fifteen servants, arrived yesterday by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's steamer China, and took up their abode at the Occidental Hotel. Their Excellencies Chih Tajen and Sun Tajen, are High Ministers of the second rank, attached to the Mission to learn and qualify themselves in the modes of diplomatic intercourse, and to assist Burlingame in his communications with the Chinese Government. This morning some of the party appeared on the streets, and the two Ministers attracted some attention by their dress—the single red button and peacock's feather. The party have neither made nor received any formal calls as yet, and, we believe no steps for a public reception have yet been matured. They are expected to leave by the steamer Golden Age, on Monday next. It does not appear that the embassy are provided with an Imperial flag, as the stars and stripes are flying over the hotel in their honor.—From the San Francisco Bulletin, April 2.

PAPAL RECRUITS FROM AMERICA.—The Catholic Telegraph, of Cincinnati, says that a number of young men in Pennsylvania formed a company to recruit the Pope's army, and wrote to the Superior of the Benedictines at Rome, offering their services, who answered after he consulted Cardinal Antonelli and the Papal Secretary of War: "These two persons simultaneously declared that they did not want soldiers from America; that the Papal army was a ready as numerous as it was possible to maintain it, and that at any time they could obtain from Belgium, Holland or France volunteers who would cost less and be better adapted to the purpose, on account of similarity of habits, &c., &c.; but that the Catholics of America could do most service by sending money to help to cover Pontifical expenses. Half the amount necessary to keep a recruit is worth more to the Pope than a soldier all equipped and transported to Rome."

STEPHEN S. FOSTER spoke eloquently in defence of woman suffrage on Tuesday evening, at Worcester, Mass., and held a brief conversational discussion at the close of his address. Henry Chapin, in his remarks on taking the chair, said that among his acquaintances he found many intelligent and educated women who dreaded the responsibility of the ballot, and this caused him to waver in his faith in the practical application of this new movement.

THE WOMAN QUESTION.—A London paper observes: "The female communicants of several large American churches are asking whether they also have not souls, and if so, why they are excluded from choosing their minister? It will be very difficult to answer that question, more especially as the average woman of America knows more theology of any kind than the average man, and subscribes quite as liberally.

Pendleton and the Presidency.

"Miles O'Reilly," who is thoroughly posted in political matters, and represents the opinions of a large portion of the Democracy of New York, does not appear to regard Pendleton's chances of becoming President quite as promising as our neighbors of the Post or the Chicago Times would have the public believe them to be. In an article in Saturday's Citizen, the "Boy Miles" discusses the matter at length, and winds up as follows:

"We say, distinctly, positively, and unchangeably as the law of the Medes and Persians, that never will those for whom we speak, help directly or indirectly, by assertion or silence, by action or idleness, the election of the utter Copperhead and falsehearted Northerner, Geo. H. Pendleton. Until water runs up hill, until trees grow with roots underground and roots above, until the moon gives heat and the sun loses its fire, until beasts become men and angels turn to devils, until ice shall burn, and fire shall freeze, until everything that is impossible becomes possible, and not then, will War Democrates vote for the man who was false not only to his country but to his section, who was conspicuous only as a degrading example of possible Northern meanness, and who, by his indirect support to their foes, slew their sons and brothers. Rather, a thousand times, would they see the loyal soldier and moderate Republican, General Grant, in the Presidential chair, a person who, if not agreeing with them in all their views, is much more nearly their representative than a Copperhead whose prudence kept him from being a traitor."

When it is known that the writer of the above is himself an uncompromising Democrat, and his paper the organ of the Union Democracy of New York, those who calculate so confidently on Pendleton's election may find it necessary to overhaul their figures. It is evident that the War Democrats will not touch him, and that if nominated against Grant, the latter will sweep the country by the largest majority ever given a Presidential candidate.—Dispatch.

Poor Men's Dinners.

The city of Glasgow, says the London Herald, is favored with the famous "cooking depots" managed by Mr. Corbett. At meal times the men swarm into these depots by hundreds. First of all comes soup or broth, exceedingly good. The second course is a plate of meat or "collops," the latter a favorite Scotch dish. With this the diner has either slices of bread or potatoes, enough to satisfy him under ordinary circumstances for two days. If content with a "fourpenny," the meal would now be at an end, but the "fivepenny" includes "dessert" in the shape of a slice of plum pudding or rice pudding, with milk and sugar. No intoxicating drinks are to be had on the premises, but water is furnished ad libitum, and ginger beer and lemonade can be purchased at a penny a bottle. For breakfast, porridge can be had at a penny, and a good allowance of milk for a half-penny. Some have "two goes," and so expend threepence on their breakfast. Porridge, milk, coffee, and bread and butter, can all be indulged in for the total charge of threepence halfpenny.

Condition of the Treasury.

The balance sheet of the Treasury Department will, at the end of this month, present a much more cheerful aspect than it did at the close of the month of March. The drafts upon the Treasury from the Navy and War Departments for the twenty-three days of the present month amounted to but $4,700,000, and it is estimated that the aggregate of all drafts for April upon the Treasury to supply the demands of the Navy and War Departments will not exceed $7,000,000.

The public debt statement for this month will show a reduction of the liabilities of the Government of about $10,900,000. The receipts from customs still come in encouragingly, and have reached $11,400,000 for the twenty-three days ending yesterday. During the same period the receipts from internal revenue amount to $5,900,000.

IN BOSTON they have a "milk inspector," whose business it is to keep the milk venders of that city straight. He has recently made a report of his doings in 1867, from which it appears that he inspected during the year 1,747 samples of milk, of which he found 629 adulterated. Of these the average amount of adulteration was 32 per cent., the chief article used being water. The smallest adulteration in any sample was 14 per cent., and the largest amount in any single sample nearly 56 per cent. Upon these investigations he procured the indictment during the year of twenty-one milk dealers, nineteen of whom were convicted by the Boston Courts. The daily supply of milk in Boston is 17,493 gallons, and it is sold at eight cents a quart retail.

MRS. LUCIA GILBERT CALHOUN, writing about "fashionable weddings," says that one of the sweetest girls I know told me that she asked such and such people to her wedding—vulgar, miserable acquaintances as they were—because she knew that they would give her presents. Indeed, she confessed, without the slightest shamefacedness, that she gave a wedding on account of the tariff system. "It will be such a help toward housekeeping," she strikingly remarked. It is an incredible fact that wedding presents are hired from the jewelers, and labeled with the names of suppositious relatives, to make up the melancholy display. It is a horrible sequence that policemen should be placed on guard over the laden tables during the reception.

THE Ramie fibre is beginning to become an article of trade in New Orleans, and one merchant of that city has received orders for it from New York, and offers double the market rate of cotton for all he can obtain. A demand for the fibre is also springing up in the West, but no definite orders for it from that section have yet been received at New Orleans. Regarding the merits of Ramie, the Picayune says it is as good as linen cambric or silk, and when it comes into use, the wearer will find that "the chief difficulty will be that it will not wear out when the fashion changes, and he will hate to throw it away, when, after a couple of years' wear, it is still as good as new."

MR. WALTER COX, a lawyer, and a witness for the defence in the impeachment trial, gave evidence which must have seriously disturbed the nerves of the ex-Attorney General and leading counsel for the President. Mr. Cox testified that President Johnson told him he wanted to have the Tenure-of-Office act tested, and wanted him to see "Stanbery, who had been too lazy to look into the matter." A. Johnson has been guilty of very great meanness, but this abuse of his most willing servant is the most disgustingly mean of all his infamous acts.

A NUMBER of absurdly false rumors have been circulated about the Hon. Cassius M. Clay in connection with his resignation of the Russian ministry. To one of these, which stated that the Russian Ambassador to this country, Baron Stoeckl had procured a letter from the State Department requesting his resignation, that gentleman has authorized the most explicit and direct contradiction to be made. Baron Stoeckl is one of Mr. Clay's warmest friends, and has the most assured confidence in his ability and integrity.

Dr. SARGENT'S Cough Syrup will heal the soreness, allay the inflammation, and restore the lungs to their prestine health and vigor. This Cough Syrup is pleasant and agreeable to take, while powerful and sure in its action. For sale by all Druggists in the country.

FALLACIES OF THE FACULTY.

The stomach is the ruling organ of the system. If the digestion is imperfect, every member, every gland, every muscle, every nerve and fibre is more or less out of order. All the fluids are depraved. The brain is clouded. The spirits are depressed. All dyspeptics know this to be the truth. It is not, however, half the truth. Columns would be required to enumerate the pains and penalties of dyspepsia, nor could any pen do them justice. Tens of thousands feel them; no man can describe them.

Can they be prevented? Can they be relieved? Can they be banished at once and forever? Unquestionably they can. No dyspeptic has ever taken HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS in vain. Believe no one who says the complaint is incurable. This great vegetable stomachic will eradicate it—is eradicating it in thousands of cases over which medical practitioners have shaken their heads ominously, saying, "Nothing can be done."

The faculty has its fallacies. One of them is that indigestion is the most difficult of all the ordinary ailments of mankind to combat and subdue. This is a mistake. Nothing can be easier than to conquer it if the true specific be administered. This vegetable combination which has become famous throughout the civilized world as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is an antidote to the disease which has never been known to fail, and fortunately it is everywhere procurable. If you wish to fool with the dyspepsia, try the pharmacopœia prescriptions. If you want to root it out and prevent its occurrence take the Bitters daily. There is no discount on the testimony in its favor. If there is a man or woman who has ever tried it for indigestion without being benefitted, the fact has not transpired. Universal, uncontradicted praise avouches its wonderful tonic virtues.

ANOTHER CURE OF DEAFNESS.

I lost my hearing during the last year. Part of the time I was totally deaf. In April of this year I was induced, from an advertisement, to make application to DR. KEYSER, 120 Penn street, Pittsburgh. After having tried various medicines from doctors, without any benefit, I have been under Dr. Keyser's treatment now for nearly two months, and am entirely restored to my hearing, so that I can hear a pin drop. JOHN SCANLAN,

Coal Bluffs, Washington Co., Pa.

ANOTHER CURE.

A man called to-day at Dr. Keyser's office to inform him of a great cure made by his LUNG CURE, or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE. Hist these cures are made with the Doctor's preparations, he desires it to be distinctly understood that most of his great cures are made in accordance with the established laws that govern the science of medicine, in which he has been engaged for the past twenty-five years. Last week he was also in receipt of a letter from a clergyman in the State of Ohio, detailing another most wonderful cure.

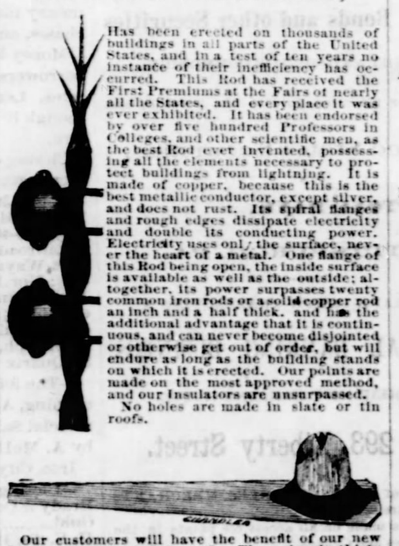
Lightning Rods

Munson's Copper Tubular Lightning Rod,

WITH

SPIRAL FLANGES,



Has been erected on thousands of buildings in all parts of the United States, and in a test of ten years no instance of their inefficiency has occurred. This Rod has received the First Premiums at the Fairs of nearly all the States, and every place it was ever exhibited. It has been endorsed by over five hundred Professors in Colleges, and other scientific men, as the best Rod ever invented, possessing all the elements necessary to protect buildings from lightning. It is made of copper, because this is the best metallic conductor, except silver, and does not rust. Its spiral flanges and rough edges dissipate electricity and double its conducting power. Electricity uses only the surface, never the heart of a metal. One flange of this Rod being open, the inside surface is available as well as the outside; altogether, its power surpasses twenty common iron rods or a solid copper rod an inch and a half thick, and has the additional advantage that it is continuous, and can never become disjointed or otherwise get out of order, but will endure as long as the building stands on which it is erected. Our points are made on the most approved method, and our Insulators are unsurpassed. No holes are made in slate or tin roofs.

Our customers will have the benefit of our new Insulator, patented in 1867. The price is thirty cents per foot, and three dollars for each top; this includes the cost of putting the rod on buildings—there are no extra charges of any kind. Within the past few years we have erected this rod on many churches and other public edifices in Pittsburgh and vicinity, and upon thousands of dwellings and barns. For the superior character of this rod we are permitted to refer to Rev. I. C. Pershing, D. D., President Pittsburgh Female College; Philotus Dean, Esq., Professor Natural Sciences, Pittsburgh High School; Geo. Woods, LL. D., Pres't. Western University of Pennsylvania.

Thankful for the liberal orders of past years, we solicit a continuation of public patronage.

Fifth Street Sidewalk Extension.

IRON CURB AND SIDEWALK.

We desire to call the attention of parties about to widen their sidewalks, according to ordinance, to our Patent Iron Curb and Pavement. The same will be laid in front of the Opera House this week and will speak for itself. The following is an extract from a letter of the City Engineer and Regulator: "I consider it superior to stone, and if laid in Fifth street, will add greatly to its beauty, and I would recommend it to property owners.

"H. J. MOORE, City Engineer."

FOR SALE.

A RIVER BOTTOM FARM OF 76 ACRES, 19 miles from the city, in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa., on the Youghiogheny river, one-half mile from Elrod's Station, on the Connellsville railroad; near churches, schools, stores, &c., in the flourishing villages of Boston and Green Oak. The improvements are a two-story brick house of six rooms, hall and cellar, a good frame bank barn with stabling underneath, and other outbuildings; a well of good standing water at the door, and several standing springs of water on the farm, and an orchard of 700 trees of selected fruits of apples, cherries, pears, peaches, quinces and grapes. This property being located near the line of the railroad, within one hour's ride of the city, makes it very desirable for gardening or a dairy farm; it is also a good and beautiful location for country homes near the city, lying immediately on the river, on the opposite side from the railroad. The West Newton Accommodation and other trains on the railroad afford certain and frequent opportunities of daily communication to and from this city. Will be sold as a whole or in lots of one acre or more, to suit purchasers.

Also, A FARM OF 173 ACRES, situated in St. Clair township, Westmoreland county, Pa., near the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Houston Station. The improvements are a two-story frame house, with six rooms and good cellar, a frame bank barn 40 by 60 feet, and other outbuildings. There is on the place a young apple and peach orchard; 120 acres cleared land, divided into fields of convenient size, a large portion of which are well set in clover and timothy; the residue of said tract covered with good timber. It is well watered and underlaid with coal and limestone, and is convenient to churches, schools, stores, mills and blacksmith shops. A real good bargain is offered in this excellent farm; and with it will be sold all the personal property on the premises, consisting of horses, cows, stock cattle, hogs and poultry, harness, gears, wagon, plows, farming implements and household and kitchen furniture. Together will be sold very low and on easy terms, to a responsible purchaser.

Also, a desirable and very fertile Tract of Land of 158 ACRES AND 25 PERCHES, in Elizabeth Tp., Allegheny county, Pa., on the line of the Hempfield railroad, and one and one-half miles from the Connellsville railroad at Suter's Station. On this farm are 40 acres of superior white oak timber, which alone is now worth one-half the price asked for the whole tract. The improvements are a log house, frame barn, good orchard, and an apple orchard of good fruit. It is well watered and underlaid with limestone and flag stone of a superior quality, with stone coal for the use of the farm.

Also, The best FARM in Fairfield township, Westmoreland county, Pa., of 250 ACRES, about six miles south of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad at Bolivar Station. The improvements are two large hewed log dwellings; one of the largest and best frame barns in the township; two apple orchards, in good bearing condition; corn crib, wagon-shed and other outbuildings. The whole farm is under a high state of cultivation; fencing all in first rate order, and the land of the best quality of limestone soil, about 200 acres of which is cleared and the residue of the tract in good timber, such as white oak, rock oak, hickory, walnut and beech. This property will be sold very cheap and on good terms, as the owner wishes to engage in other business. For particulars enquire of G. H. TOWER, 164 Fourth Street.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, April 28, 1868.

The continued heavy shipments of gold to Europe in payment of interest on United States securities held there, are keeping up the price of gold, and will be a material drawback to an early resumption of specie payments. Although the amount of gold interest due May next is very large, the condition of the money market is such, that, if speculators are disposed to take all the gold offered, they are able to carry it and run the premium thereon at pleasure. The doubt still hanging over the result of the President's trial has all the odds in favor of rise; on the other hand, an amount of twenty-seven million dollars thrown on the market at once will, and must, carry down the market, which has rather advanced in the face of these payments than yielded.

Government securities were quiet to-day; the advance of yesterday was not sustained and the ease of the money market on and after May next was rather anticipated. The amount of money coming into competition for investment will be large, but the high prices of Government securities prevalent during last January, and the sudden subsequent decline, will deter people from investing at present quotations. It would be well if this was the case, since it would give a stimulous to business enterprises, so much needed to improve the condition of the lower classes.

Stocks, like bonds, are on a stand-still, but firm to-day, and the predicted ease in money matters, may cause some large purchases, anticipating a general rise.

Money is easier in the city, and all good borrowers can be accommodated at low rates. Long paper is not much in favor, although it will pass more readily than before.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows:

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, April 28, 1868.

Trade, in a general way, keeps up to a fair average, and may be noted as still gradually improving from day to day. Flour continues active and held at stiffer rates, notwithstanding the receipts are large—amounting to over 4,000 barrels within the past thirty-six hours. We note no changes of material consequence in any branch of trade, though, in a few articles there is a tendency to lower prices. We quote as follows:

GRAIN—The market was only moderately active, as at present rates prices are in favor of sellers—the receipts being very light. From elevator Shelled Corn, of which the stocks and receipts are extremely small, may be quoted in demand at $1,05 to $1,10 per bushel. Rye is in demand and very scarce—readily commanding, on the trade, $1,90 per bushel, and some sales reported as high as $1,95 to $2 per bushel. There is a declining tendency in Oats, but, as yet, sales were made, to-day, at 78 to 80c, and from store at 82c to 83c per bushel. Barley is nominal at $2,50 per bushel—as the receipts are next to nothing. There is no wheat coming in from this section of the country, and our millers have to depend on the western markets for such supplies as will keep their mills in operation. Red Winter Wheat sells readily to the millers at $2,65 to $2,70, and White Wheat at $2,70 to $2,75 per bushel. There is no Wheat in store, and the only operators are millers. No. 1 Spring Wheat is worth $1,40 to $1,45 per bushel. At these figures there is a good demand.

FLOUR—The market continues excited with but small stocks in store. Although the receipts for the past few days have been large, but orders ahead are sufficient to carry off all the surplus now coming in. Holders are looking for another advance, should the present rates of wheat in the west continue, and the prospects are in favor of that, and even for still higher prices. The demand for Flour in this market is mainly for choice and well-known brands, and dealers are now inclined to purchase only that kind. One of the leading Flour merchants in the city furnishes us with the following quotations of well-known brands; Dayton Snow Flake, (White Winter) $13; White River, (Red Winter) $12; Jenkin's Lilly Mills, $12; Crossetts, $11,75; Emerald, $11,50, and medium brands, $10,50 to $11 per barrel. Rye Flour commands $9,50 per cwt.

PROVISIONS—The market continues very active and tending upward. We quote Mess Pork at $28,50 per bbl; Sugar Cured Hams, 20c; do Canvassed, 21c; Shoulders, 14 to 24½c; Ribbed Sides, 16½c; Clear Sides, 18½c; choice Dried Beef, 23 to 24c, and Lard, 18¾c per pound.

LARD OIL—Sales were made at $1,50 for Extra No. 1, and $1,20 per gallon for No. 2.

BUTTER—Prices are drooping, and ere the close of the week we look for a large fall. We quote prime to choice at 42 to 48c per pound.

EGGS—Prices are tending downward, with sales reported at 22 to 23c per dozen, but at the close, the market was dull at the former figure.

DRIED FRUIT—Dried Apples are dull at 7c per pound, but Peaches are active at 13c per pound.

ASHES—Sales of Pearls from store at 11c, and 5 tons Soda Ash at 4½c per pound.

FISH—Lake Herring sold at $4, and White Fish at $7,75 per half bbl.

HAY—Baled Hay on the wharf commands $24 to $26 per ton, and loose Timothy from country wagons at $24 to $30 per ton, as to quality.

POTATOES—Sales of Peach Blows by the car load at $1,40 per bushel, and Buckeyes from store at $4,25 to $4,50 per bbl.

CRANBERRIES—Sales of choice Cultivated at $18 per barrel.

New York Produce Market.

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

Bridge Building—The Wrongs of Labor—Impositions on Emigrants—The Ocean Race—National Horse Fair—Ristori—Finances and Business.

NEW YORK, April 25th, 1868.

The East River bridge proposition still attracts considerable attention, though the project seemingly makes very little real progress. All sorts of ideal bridges have been born of this. Already one bridge enthusiast and maniac urges the importance of having six of these ponderous affairs across the East River. He can't even wait to see if the first shall be a success. He or some of his family will attack the North River next. This comes of having an undue measure of the spirit of the age, and yet this kind of fellow is not lightly to be "sneezed at." His ideas and those of some of his family may be somewhat crude, but they are wondrously suggestive, and this city is to-day blessed with many a work, the idea of which had a dreadfully rough birth in the brains of enthusiasts, who were laughed at in their time.

That the poor woman living in this city and dependant on the work of her own hands for her livelihood, has a hard, sad time of it, none can deny who has given her position a thought. But how much harder it is than we are apt to realize, is shown by the payment in one instance, as is curently reported of sixteen cents for the making of four pairs of pantaloons. The song of the pantaloons is no less weary than the song of the shirt. Some believe that only a man here or there has a soul, and this man of the precious sixteen cents would seem to furnish an argument for this theory. We have thousands of abandoned women in this city; their numbers are positively alarming; and should not we immediately seek to know how many have joined this hopeless sisterhood because of such men as this one who gives four cents for the making of one pair of pantaloons?

It has recently been brought to light that some of the brokers of Paris have passed a large number of counterfeit greenbacks on the emigrants who pass through that city on their way to this country. These poor peasants apply daily at the office of the Erie Railroad for tickets to take them West, and offer in payment these spurious greenbacks, poorly executed.

Despite the card of Mr. Cunard, denying the report that the Cuba and the City of Paris are racing across the Atlantic, the latest news received from the vessels tends to confirm the report; for they were not twenty minutes apart.

An association of gentlemen has been organized for the purpose of establishing and continuing from year to year, a great national horse, agricultural and mechanical fair, the plan proposing a location in New York, Boston or Philadelphia, to be determined by the support given by the business men of these cities. Of course we may be prejudiced when we say that we think this city will offer the most liberal inducements. If she does thus offer, the fair will be opened in the coming autumn, to continue through two months. Such a fair would of course draw hundreds of thousands of people to it. This city is to be canvassed at once in furtherance of the enterprise.

Madame Ristori leaves Havana for this city to-day. Her farewell performances here will commence on Saturday next, with "Los Teseros, or Isabel Suasez," a play which caused considerabe excitement in Havana.

The gold market is rather drooping. The money market is much easier, there being ample surplus yesterday at seven per cent., and in many cases at six per cent. The stock market is chronically unsettled. General business offers but little change.

LETTER FROM RIO JANEIRO

The War in Paraguay—General News.

RIO JANEIRO, Mach 25, 1868.

From the seat of war we learn that the three Brazilean iron-clads returned to Fayi on the 26th. Asuncion was not found deserted by the inhabitants, as at first reported, and the vessels were even fired on from a small battery, but the defensive works were weak and a sufficient land force could easily take it. Two steamboats were lying sunk in the port. All the villages along the river were abandoned. In the Chaco, opposite the Tebiguary, the Paraguayan depots were seen on fire, and a schooner in tow of a steamer was captured. In returning from Asuncion they were fired on by infantry posted at the mouth of the Tebiguary.

On the 2d day of March the Paraguayans made an intrepid attempt to capture the eight Brazilian iron clads stationed between Curupaity and Humaita. Before daylight forty-eight boats, with 1,200 picked men, armed with carbines, revolvers, hatchets and hand granades, pulled quietly from the river bank, after covering themselves with boughs, so as to resemble a floating islet. Fortunately a guard boat in patroling came near enough to detect the artifice and hurried back to give the alarm, but before the crew of the nearest vessel, the Limae Burros, could all ensconce themselves inside the towers, fourteen boats were along side and the Paraguayans boarding; a short hand to hand fight ensued, in which the Captain and the first officers were severely wounded. The Cabral was also boarded from twelve boats, but her crew had time to enter the casemate. On both vessels the desperate struggle was continued through the ports with fire arms, every shot of the defenders telling in the dense mass of the assailants and the former suffering severely from grenades thrown in. Meantime the plan of simultaneous attack had been frustrated in the excitement and by the current, and the iron-clads Silvado and Herval, warping themselves into position, opened grape with deadly effect upon the boats, while the Brazil swept the decks of the boarded vessels. The case being hopeless then, the Paraguayans leaped into the boats or the river and sought to escape. The boats of the squadron were sent off to save the swimmers, but they refused to surrender, and only thirteen prisoners were taken. The Paraguyan loss is estimated at four hundred men, forty bodies being found on the decks of the two vessels. On the part of the Brazilians thirty-two were killed and wounded. On the early morn of the 3d the two wooden gunboats, Beberibe and Hayi, steamed up past Curupaity with trifling injury, and only one man wounded. The river was at the highest. The Brazilian railway in the Chaco and Lopez's road were both under water, but the vessels above Curupaity had sufficient stores to last for a considerable time.

The warm anticipations of an immediate conclusion of the war having partially died away under the influence of the less exciting news from Paraguay, Rio has subsided into a more business-like condition, and is turning its attention again to politics, which are highly salient, owing to some elections and the approaching opening of the Assembly. Notwithstanding the general belief that the war must terminate before long, the collection of troops is maintained with unabated vigor, and 659 were sent off upon the 15th, and others are to follow immediately.

In the Argentine Confederation some troubles were existing in Rioza, and cholera had showed itself to a small extent in Buenos Ayres, but declined immediately.

NARCISSUS.

Pacific Railroad, Eastern Division.

United States Commissioners Blair, White and Buford a few days since returned from an official tour to the end of the Eastern or Kansas Division of the Pacific Railroad. That terminus, by their visit and formal acceptance of a new section of twenty-five miles, is carried to the three hundred and sixtieth mile west of the Missouri river, and is now beyond the State line of Kansas. It is now thirty miles east of Pond Creek and near Fort Wallace, on the road to Santa Fe, toward which it is now beginning to deflect. The Commisssoners and experts who were of the party speak in the highest terms of the solidity and excellence of construction of the road. Already it is doing a very large business; the travel at this seasons being immense.—Chicago Republican.

FIVE HUNDRED Northern emigrants a week, it is estimated, pour into Missouri. They take with them, on an average, one thousand dollars apiece. Five hundred thousand dollars weekly, then, is the revenue from immigration of free Missouri. This increase of capital and sinew, of industry and brains, of intelligence and population, any Southern State can have the moment it follows Missouri's example, and declares for freedom and the ideas which are carrying forward this age and continent. And this they must do if they desire to grow and flourish. Development will not arise from death. They cannot expect while they hold themselves in mortmain, while they are clutched in the dead hand of slavery and past ideas, to go forward. Free constitutions and hearty sympathy with the party of progress are all the welcome that is wanted to attract to Southern soil thousands of strong Northern arms and millions of solid Northern dollars.—Press.

THE Eastern papers are complimenting the educational enterprise of the West by a comparison of school figures, which they acknowledge take "the conceit out of them." For instance, Lowell, Mass., sends to school of her children old enough to go to school, 80 per cent., Boston, 60 per cent.; Newark, N. J., 55 per cent.; Brooklyn, Buffalo, Troy, and Syracuse each 40 per cent.; Zanesville, O., 65 per cent.; Chicago and San Francisco, 50 per cent.; Milwaukee, 40 per cent; Detroit, 45 per cent.; Cincinnati, 25 per cent. The ratio of pupils in Eastern cities is from 15 to 20 per cent.; in Western cities from 10 to 20 per cent., averaging 15 per cent.

CHARLES P. BRONSON, in his day the most celebrated teacher of elocution in this country, died on the 26th, aged sixty-six years. More than thirty thousand people have been taught by him, and his book on Elocution reached a circulation of one hundred and twenty-five thousand copies. The principal work of his later life was the preparation of a Bible, so printed as to show accent, rhetorical pauses and emphatic words. This immense labor is complete, but has not yet been published. He had also just completed for the press a new edition of his "Elocution."

PRINCE ALFRED, whose attempted assassination is announced from Australia, is Queen Victoria's fourth child. He was born in 1844, and is consequently now about 34 years of age. From his earliest years he has been regarded as the most intelligent and sensible of the royal family, and has been far more popular with the English people than any other of the Queen's children. He holds the rank of Duke of Edinburgh, and is a captain in the English navy. He has traveled extensively over the world, but whilst he has been in the Canadas, he has not yet visited the United States.

THE reaction on the Prohibition question in Massachusetts is being naturally followed by its own reaction. In its extreme legislation in favor of unrestricted rum-selling, the anti-Prohibition Legislature has overreached itself, and thoughtful people are becoming frightened at the lengths to which the recent popular frenzy for "personal liberty" has gone. The key-note of this changed public sentiment is sounded in the message of Gov. Bullock, in which he returns the License bill passed by the Legislature without his signature.—N. Y. Tribune.

THE Committee of Clevelanders, appointed to visit New York, for the purpose of securing the passage through Cleveland of the broad guage extension of the Atlantic and Great Western Railway to Toledo, have returned, and the Plaindealer understands that "If they did not utterly fail in the object of their trip, they at least despair of accomplishing that object."

TO GLASS MANUFACTURERS.—

The undersigned having secured the sole Agency for the sale of the celebrated

COPLEY POT CLAY.

Are now prepared to furnish it in any quantity to those wishing to procure this superior article. During fifteen years' use of this Clay, we have arrived at such proportions as we believe makes it a better article for pots than any in the market, we having opened an average stand of SIX, EIGHT and TEN MONTHS. We will furnish freights for the present time of the manufacture of this Clay to persons purchasing. The Clay is general and suitable for Glass Pots for delivery.

SECURITY AND COMFORT FOR THE TRAVELING COMMUNITY.

J. B. HARRIS' SAFETY FIRE JACKET,

Car Heater and Moderator,

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be adpplied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Robbery on the Hand Street Bridge—Man Knocked Down and His Pockets Rifled.

A bold and daring robbery was committed on the Hand Stseet Bridge, Monday evening, in which Mr. Alexander M'Quinkan, a resident of Allegheny, was the victim. Mr. M'Quinkan came to this city on Monday evening and collected twenty-five dollars, and about nine o'clock started home by way of the Hand Street Bridge. He had proceeded about half way across the bridge, when he was accosted by two ruffians, one of whom struck him with a slung shot and knocked him down, after which the two rifled his pockets, taking his money, about forty dollars, and everything of value they contained. Such outrages are becoming daily occurrences, and unless some measures are adopted by the authorities to prevent them, the citizens may be compelled take the matter in hands, and if they do "woe be unto all evil doers." It would certainly be doing the police authorities and professional detectives a great injustice to say that they were a set of ignoramuses, and we decline to use the term in that connection; but we have no hesitancy in saying if there was less attention given to a certain class of cases, in which certain individuals succeed in obtaining large fees, and from the prosecution of which the community derives no benefit, and a united effort made to ascertain the villains who perpetrate these frequent outrages, some of them might be caught. The city pays the police force, from the Chief to the night watchmen, a stipulated salary, and it is entitled to the service of all thus paid.

The Accident on the Allegheny Valley Railroad—Additional Particulars.

Mr. R. S. Brown, Assistant Superintendent of the Allegheny Valley railroad, furnishes the following additional particulars relative to the accident which occurred near Scrub Grass on that road, Monday evening, an account of which we published yesterday:

The accident occurred about one mile above Scrub Grass, and was occasioned by a broken axle on one of the freight cars. The train was running at a rate of speed of about twelve miles an hour, proved by the following facts:

The train left Scrub Grass on time, (4:20 P. M.;) her time at next station, four miles distant, was 4:40, having twenty minntes to make the distance. Several persons jumped from the train and were not hurt, which could not have been the case if running at a high rate of speed, one of the best engineers and one of the most careful in the State was in charge of the engine hauling that train. The passenger coach was not much damaged, which would not have been the case had they been running at a high rate of speed. Our latest report from the ground says about twelve persons were injured, none seriously except a lady, Miss Marshall, who had a leg broken; Mrs. Hoover, injured internally; Mr. Angell, spine injured; Mr. St. George, hurt internally; six or eight others, names unknown, were slightly injured. R. S Brown,
Assistant Superintendent.

A Soiree Broken Up.

Monday evening Benjamin Jefferson, a negro residing on East Lane, Union street, Fourth ward, Allegheny, gave a grand soiree, at which the colored population of Allegheny did congregate in vast numbers. It is Benjamin's custom to give the entertainment, and as he invariably supplies his guests with liquor, the soirees end in a "free fight." About eleven o'clock the watchman heard which, to his notion, was entirely too loud, and after summoning assistance, a descent was made upon the house, when the following "revelers" were captured: Benjamin Jefferson, Joseph Kinney, G. A. Greenwich, P. Snyder, John Wagner, John Smith, John Sullivan, Moses Anderson, James Davis, John Shuman, "Birdie" Catlin, Anna Williams, Phebe Jones, Mary Sanders, Anna Smith, Mary Palmer, Virginia Maw, Ann Murray, Sarah Bill and Martha West. They were taken to the watch house and provided with lodging, free of charge. Yesterday morning they were brought out for a hearing before Mayor Drum, who imposed a fine of $10 and costs upon each of them. Some were able to pay the amount, but Greenwich, Snyder, Wagner, Sullivan, Taylor, Phebe Jones, Mary Palmer, Birdie Catlin and Martha West were committed to jail for ten days each in default of payment.

"A sound of revelry."

Returned.

Several days since we published an account of the arrest of John S. Steel on a charge of seduction perferred by Elizabeth Hamilton of Philadelphia. Our information in regard to the affair was obtained from the officer who came from Philadelphia to make the arrest, who we learned was a brother of the prosecutrix: He was taken to Philadelphia, and released on two thousand dollars bail, by Alderman Fitch, for a hearing. On the day appointed he appeared, but the prosecutrix failed to put in an appearance, and as no evidence to substantiate the charge was offered, the defendant was promptly discharged by the magistrate. We have been creditably informed that Mr. Steel is a highly respectable and industrious young man, and we are pleased to give publicity to the fact of his discharge. He returned to this city yesterday morning and resumed work at the Third Presbyterian church, at which he was working at the time of his arrest. He states that he was treated shamefully by Officer Hamilton, who had charge of him.

Suicide—Coroner's Inquest.

Charles Kehrein, a German, employed as teamster at Siewald's brewery, Braddock's Field, committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor, about four o'clock Monday morning. It appears that he had been drinking for some time past, and was laboring under an attack of mania potu. He slept in the brewery, and was found at the time mentioned by Dr. Schooly, who had been attending him. The wound, it is thought, would not have produced death had it not been for the physical prostration occasioned by the use of liquor. He was still living when discovered by the doctor, but died in a few hours afterwards. Coroner Clawson was notified, and held an inquest on the body yesterday, when the jury rendered the following verdict: "The deceased came to his death on the 27th of April, from the effects of a wound inflicted by himself, while laboring under an attack of delirium tremens."

He was twenty-one years of age, a single man, and had been in this country about seven years.

Alleged Larceny.

Charles Kelley yesterday made information before Alderman McMasters, charging his brother, Michael Kelly, with larceny. It appears that there was another brother in the family, named James, who recently died in Mercy Hospital. At the time of his death it is alleged by the prosecutor he had money and papers in his possession amounting to $5,000. The day following his demise Michael, it appears, went to the hospital and took possession of his trunk, money, papers and clothing, and carried them away, and now refuses to give any account of them. Charles obtained letters of administration, but failed to find any estate upon which to administer. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Michael.

Will of the Late Col. J. H. Foster.

The Will of Col. J. Heron Foster was admitted to probate in the Register's office, Monday, the 27th instant. It bears date April 19, 1867, and is as follows:

I, J. Heron Foster, do make this my will and testament, revoking all wills heretofore made.

I give, devise and bequeath to my wife Julia, all my real and personal estate of every kind whatever, to her heirs and assigns, subject to the following conditions, viz: That the property known as the Dispatch Building, running from Fifth street to Virgin alley, with a front of thirty feet on each, shall be taken by her, subject to a payment of twenty-five thousand dollars to my daughter Julia, twenty-five thousand to my daughter Rachel, and the sum of eleven thousand to my son J. Heron Foster, Jr. The reason for leaving my son only eleven thousand is that I have advanced him the sum of fourteen thousand dollars, and I wish to make no difference whatever between my children in the disposal of my property. Any moneys advanced to him from this date until my death to be deducted from the eleven thousand dollars.

It is my wish that my wife shall have the Dispatch Building above mentioned without any necessity to sell the same to pay the above bequests to my children; I direct she shall hold the same and pay the interest annually on said bequests to my legatees—said interest to commence one year after the date of my death; with the right at any time on her part to pay said bequests or any part thereof as she may desire. They, my said children, to have no right to claim or demand more than the interest on the bequests during the life of my said wife. The interest on the bequest to my said daughter Rachel to be held and applied by my said wife for the support and maintenance of my said daughter until she arrives at the age of twenty-one years. I do hereby appoint my said wife Julia the guardian of my said daughter Rachel.

In case of the death of any of my children named, without issue, I give and bequeath to my wife Julia any portion of the amount remaining unpaid, bequeathed to such child.

As I received from the estate of James E. Heron, deceased, the sum of one thousand dollars for each of my daughters above named, I direct my wife, the Executrix of this, my will, to pay the same out of any moneys she may receive out of my estate.

As I wish it to be known why I formerly gave to my wife all my personal property in my residence on South avenue, Allegheny city, and the property described in my deed to her, dated April 11th, 1867, it was in discharge of a debt due to her from the amount realized from Government bonds which she held and gave me for my own use.

I constitute and appoint my wife, Julia, the Executrix of this, my last will and testament. [Signed,]
J. Heron Foster.

Wm. Owens, Jr., Simon Johnston and Rody Patterson, witnesses.

The first codicil provides that in case he should survive his wife, he appointed R. C. G. Sproul, Executor, and after the payment of all debts due, the property was to be equally divided among the children, to be held by them as tenants in common; the $14,000 advanced to the son to be deducted from his share.

The second codicil of the will provides that during her widowhood his wife shall not be compelled to pay more than one-half interest upon the respective legacies as long as she deems proper, and that any such interest shall remain a charge upon the Dispatch Building, but shall not bear interest, and provides for the education of his youngest daughter. The second codicil concludes as follows:

"I further bequeath to my son Heron my sword and belt, worn when we were in the United States service in the war to suppress the rebellion against our Government.

"It is my special request that none of my family shall wear mourning in consequence of my death.

Another Man Missing—A Chicago Sensation.

We clip the following sad tale of woman's fidelity and man's heartlessness, which is of some local interest, from the Chicago Republican:

A sad case of supposed swindling and desertion, on the part of a husband toward his wife and family, has just been developed, the circumstances concerning which are as follows: William Straight, a well to do farmer, until recently living near Monongahela, Penn., has been a married man for some eight years. Until the fall of 1867 he seemed to be a loving and devoted husband, but since that time he has not proved himself the honest, upright man that a fond wife supposed him to be. During the fall which has just passed, Straight paid a visit to this city, remaining away from his family several weeks. After his return home his wife thought that his conduct had changed toward her, and although believing that she was no longer loved she endeavored to make his home a happy one. One day when he was overhauling some papers a photograph of a beautiful woman fell to the floor, and was picked up by his little boy, who asked his father who it was. The little boy was informed that it was a picture of a cousin. Mrs. Straight obtained possession of the photograph, and was at once satisfied that it represented no relation of theirs. To make it more suspicious to her jealous mind, the back of the card denoted that it had been made in Chicago. After that she felt certain that he was no more a faithful husband.

Last April he sold out in Pennsylvania and came to this city, en route for Muskegon, Michigan. The family arrived here on the 11th inst., and went on board the propellor Truesdell one week ago last Thursday. As the baggage had not yet arrived, Mr. Straight volunteered to remain in Chicago and take charge of the same. Since then he has not been seen by his wife and little son. Mrs. Straight says that she is certain he had in his possession sixteen thousand dollars, three thousand of which was her private property.

Thinking that her husband would soon follow, she remained on the boat and was conveyed to Muskegon, where she awaited the arrival of Mr. Straight, but all in vain. Determined to ascertain, if possible, the reason of his long absence, she returned to this city, arriving yesterday forenoon in the Comet. She at once reported the above facts at the Central Police Station, to Detective Sergeant Tom Moore, who, aided by experienced help, will soon, undoubtedly, unravel the mystery attendant upon the husband's absence.

And yet, it is only supposition as to the cause of his disappearance. His wife is of the opinion that he has taken their fortune and left for parts unknown with some other woman. He may have been murdered for his money, however, and until the matter is investigated by the detectives, the case must remain a mystery. The missing man is about five feet nine inches high, blue eyes, very polite in manner, and sports a very heavy silver watch chain with a fine silver watch attached. The wife is still on board the Comet.

Street Crossings.

The City Councils having recognized a necessity for wide sidewalks by adding two feet to the width of those on Fifth street, should now, to be consistant, recognize the necessity of doubling, at least the width of all the street crossings. If it is at all necessary that the side walks should be fourteen feet, it is of equal necessity that the street crossing should be at least half as wide, and yet they are but two or three feet and very imperfect, perhaps none of all the deficiencies in our streets, so much remarked by strangers, is more, or more justly condemned, than our miserable crossings, which are badly made and so narrow that pedestrians passing over them in opposite directions, must, one or the other, betake himself to the muddy cartway, or quarrel over the right of precedence.

THE COURTS.

United States District Court—Judge McCandless.

Setting in chambers yesterday, petitions for final discharge were filed by Thomas Rolston, of Boggs township, Clearfield county, and L. D. and John R. Taylor, of Blosburg, Tioga county. The usual orders were made. A petition for adjudication was filed by J. R. Fricke, Jr., of Pittsburgh.

District Court—Judge Williams.

In the case of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway Company vs. William Carmichael, the jury was withdrawn, and the account in dispute was referred to H. Kirkpatrick, S. H. Geyer and Charles Patterson, Esqs., for settlement, judgment to be entered according to the report by the Prothonotary without exception or appeal.

The next case taken up was that of Chas. Gearing vs. James Millingar. It is alleged that the defendant is indebted to the plaintiff in the sum of $70,000, the price of 73,533 pounds of cotton, the property of the plaintiff, sold by defendant in the spring of 1863, and unaccounted for by him. The trial was commenced some time ago and postponed on account of the sickness of one of the counsel. It will probably occupy the attention of the Court for several days.

The Diamond Front.

One of the most imposing business houses in the city of Allegheny is that of McBride & George, wholesale and retail grocers and provision dealers, No. 164 Federal street. The house has been recently renovated and repainted, and may be readily distinguished by the very attractive manner in which the front is finished, being penciled in neat diamonds. The elegant manner in which the room has been fitted up, and its splendid appearance, are not the greatest attractions of this establishment by any means. For in addition to being one of the most imposing and complete of its kind in the two cities, it is one of the best places to purchase groceries and provisions, at either wholesale or retail, to be found anywhere. The stock of teas at this establishment is one of the largest and best assorted in the two cities, comprising every kind and of the best quality ever offered in this or any other market. A large and well selected stock of groceries has just been received and is being disposed of at reasonably low prices in quantities to suit purchasers. This enterprising firm, for the accommodation of their numerous patrons, deal extensively in provisions, such as flour, hams, bacon, &c. From the high standing Messrs. McBride & George enjoy among the business men of the two cities, it is evident that they are honest, fair dealing men, and persons desiring to purchase groceries, either at wholesale or retail, will find accommodating and obliging gentlemen, and at the same time will find the stock all that we have represented it to be. Remember, the Diamond Front, 164 Federal street, Allegheny.

The Philomathean Society.

For nearly six years this Society has been slowly growing in size and influence in the institution of which it is a part. Last evening the members of the Philo gave a literary entertainment, consisting of select declamations, original orations, essays and music. From the very first it was easy to tell that no speaker there was a tyro in the science of elocution. From first to last the style or manner of delivery was, not faultless, but very good indeed. The two "hits" of the evening were original essays, "The Man of Science" and "From the Cradle to the Grave." The first was very funny, and the delivery was as original as was the language, and hearty applause greeted the speaker, Mr. A. F. Seibert, as he left the stage. The second essay mentioned was in a different vein. The author, W. H. McGary, is an orator, his voice is musical and his gestures easy and harmonious. With such accessories, if the matter had been trash, it could not have failed. As it was, all was good and resulted in a brilliant success. Some might accuse him of staginess, but it would, we think, be unjustly. Several common-place sophistries marred but failed to spoil this great triumph of the evening. The music was quite as original as any of the essays, and the energy of the society was displayed in the truly astonishing band which had been engaged for the occasion. The society is anxious to procure new books and decorations for its hall, and the proceeds of last night's efforts will be applied to that purpose, for which we hope it may prove amply sufficient.

A Large Circus and Menagerie.

Thayer & Noyes' model circus and mammoth menagerie of trained animals will afford our Birmingham neighbors a gratuitous exhibition of the almost inexhaustible resources of the standard show. Their street parade or grand public procession is replete with ancient grandeur, and is a long line of gorgeous chariots, richly ornamented cages and magnificent wagons, with the beautiful tableau "car of Aurora," properly named, bearing representations of all nations, Europe, Asia, Africa and America, and following this a procession of mounted Knights in real armor, with banners gay, and Ladies of the Court in royal robes. The Washington Chronicle, speaking of the street procession, says: "It is worth thirty miles of travel alone to witness the grand parade."

Messrs. Thayer & Noyes' will exhibit in Allegheny City on Friday and Saturday, May 1st and 2d.

Larceny by Bailee.

Phillip Kalkoff yesterday made information before the Mayor charging Charles Roescher with larceny by bailee. It is alleged by the prosecutor that he was a stockholder in the Laurel Run Oil Company, and that the accused was employed as clerk and business manager by the said company, and while acting in that capacity he disposed of an engine and other property belonging to the company, appropriating the money to his own use. Roescher was arrested in St. Louis a few days since, on a charge of embezzlement, an account of which we published yesterday, and Chief of Police Green, who was sent after him, will probably return with him in a few days.

Vocal and Instrumental Concert.

A grand concert of vocal and instrumental music will be given at the Presbyterian Church, Manchester, Thursday evening, the 30th inst. The concert will be under the direction of Mr. C. C. Mellor, assisted by Mrs. Laura Mellor, Mr. Breed and others of equal celebrity. The proceeds of the concert are to be devoted to the liquidation of the debts of the church in which it will be held, so that those who attend will not only have a delightful entertainment, but will at the same time have the gratification of knowing that the small sum of money paid by them has been contributed to a laudable object.

A Bad Boy.—Yesterday morning a little girl, daughter of Mr. Samuel Chambers, of the Fifth ward, was robbed of a valuable gold chain which she wore round her neck. The child was sitting on the steps of her father's residence on Canal street, near Penn, when a boy approached her, snatched the chain from her neck, and ran away with it. He has not been discovered, and no description of him can be obtained.

Committed for Vagrancy.—Alderman Irvin, of Lawrenceville, yesterday committed Stephen Riley for ten days on a charge of vagrancy, on oath of W. Jancey, Esq.

The Allegheny County Medical Society recently appointed the following named delegates to the American Medical Association which meets in Washington, Tuesday, May 5th, 1868, at 11 o'clock A. M: Drs. Jones, Wishart, Pollock, Fleming, Jillson, Shaw, Benham and Knox, and to the State Medical Society, which meets in the capitol in Harrisburg, Wednesday, June 10th, at 4 P. M., Drs. James King, Jones, Jillson, Foster, McCann, Wishart, Coffey, Asdale, Shaw, Fleming, Gross, Trevor, Snodgrass, Elliott, Gallaher and O. L. Miller.

Slight Fire.—About five o'clock yesterday an alarm of fire was received at the Central office from box 34, at Canal and Liberty streets, which was occasioned by a slight fire in the William Penn Hotel, Penn street, near Canal, in the Fifth ward. The fire originated in the dining room, and one table was destroyed. The engines were promptly on the ground but the fire was extinguished before their arrival.

Spring! Spring!—Spring is now upon us and the days are becoming warm. Our lady readers should remember that Bates & Bell have a complete stock of ladies' Spring underwear, Night Dresses and Spring Sacques. These goods are of the very best material and made to suit all prices. Call and examine them at their first class store, No. 21 Fifth street.

Larceny by Bailee.—M. Gallinger made information before Alderman Taylor yesterday, charging Jacob Lowenthal with larceny by bailee. He alleges that he left a lot of goods in care of the accused, who sold them and appropriated the money to his own use. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Arrival.—The new engine purchased by the Independance Fire Company, arrived in the city yesterday, and was taken out to the engine house. It is said to be a splendid piece of workmanship, and we believe renders perfect satisfaction to the company so far as finish and appearance is concerned.

Committed for Trial.—John L. King was committed to jail in default of bail for his appearance at Court by Mayor Drum yesterday, on a charge of assault and battery, on oath of Rachel Park. A commitment was also lodged against him for surety of the peace, on oath of Sarah E. King.

Attempted Robbery.—On Monday night a man was discovered by officer Stewart, of the Allegheny police, attempting to force open the door of a meat shop at the lower end of Rebecca street, Fifth ward. The thief observed the officer about the same moment and succeeded in eluding arrest.

Obituary.—R. Clark Stockton, aged sixty-five years, a respected citizen of Allegheny, died at his residence at 9 o'clock p. m. yesterday. He was one of the leading literary men of this community, and his death will be deeply regretted by his many friends and acquaintances.

National Convention Against Secret Societies.—This Convention meets in this city on the 5th, 6th and 7th days of May next. J. Blanchard, President of Wheaton College, Illinois, and Prof. Henry Fairchild, of Oberlin, Ohio, appear to be the prime actors in the movement.

Fire in Allegheny.—About five o'clock yesterday evening the roof of De Haven's foundry on Beaver street, First ward, Allegheny, caught fire. The prompt arrival of the firemen and their energetic efforts soon extinguished the flames. The damage was very slight.

"He knows his nose: I know he knows his nose; he knows I know he knows his nose." So said the Jester, and might have added, he knows his nose knows no more fragrant and delicate odor than the "Flor del Espiritu Santo." Woodworth's new perfume.

Ferocious Dog.—Fred Rosco made information before Justice Ammon, charging Henry Vetter with keeping a ferocious dog. He alleges that the dog bit him and tore his clothes. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Surety of the Peace.—William McElwain made information, yesterday, against John McLaughlin for surety of the peace. Alderman Taylor, before whom the information was made, issued a warrant for his arrest.

Lost a Pocket Book.—Mrs. McGonigle, residing at Mount Washington, lost her pocket book, containing five dollars, in one of the Pittsburgh and Birmingham passenger cars.

Bonnet flowers and ribbons, embracing all the prettiest and latest styles, at Moorhead's fashionable trimming house, No. 81 Market street.

Gents furnishing goods in endless variety and tip top quality, at Moorhead's fashionable trimming house, No. 81 Market street.

A Great Convenience.

One of the most convenient arrangements, and one that our city has long felt the need of, is the establishment of the City Ash Cart system. Mr. M. Frederick, of the City Ash Cart Line, is a prompt and reliable man in the transaction of his business, and all orders received by him for the removal of ashes within the city limits will receive immediate attention. It is only necessary under this system for persons to place the ashes in boxes or barrels and leave the order at the GAZETTE office or at Alderman Bulter's, and they will be promptly removed by Mr. Frederick's carts, either by the week or by contract.

The Return of Spring.—Bright Spring is here with its warm, heart gladdening sun and deliciously perfumed breezes. All nature wears a new livery, and Liebler, the skillful Trunk Manufacturer, No. 104 Wood street, continues to supply his numerous wholesale and retail patrons with the best articles in his line, offered in this market. Mr. Liebler's is the only house where Trunks, Valises, Carpet Sacks, Satchels, &c., are exclusively made and dealt in. His stock is very large and presents admirable assortment, while his prices are exceedingly reasonable.

Patent Force Pump.—T. T. Ewens, practical plumber, No. 165 Wood street, has in store a most admirable force pump for garden purposes. It is constructed on the most modern principles and throws a strong, steady stream of water a greater distance and with more volume than any other in use. It is a patent pump and will commend itself to all. It comes cheap and will prove durable. Orders by mail will be promptly attended to, and experienced workmen will be sent to any point to put them down.

"Poor Tom's a' Cold."

How warm soe'er the genial sun
May look in kindness on the earth.
In Tom Jones' veins no cheering warmth
Dispels the gloomy sorrow of his soul.
Dyspepsia, like a goblin, hunts him down.
Ague, grim chamberlain, lights him to bed.
While Dullness, Vertigo and Headache dire
With fiercer aches combine to make him groan.

Hearken, Thomas, to instrnction
For all thy ills a remedy is found,
A panacea, certain, pleasant, sure,
Plantation Bitters—S. T.—1860—X.,
A wondrous Tonic, made by Dr. Drake.
We presume "poor Tom's" case is not worse than hundreds who are cured daily by this wonderful medicine.

—By the explosion of boilers at Marshall, Phillips & Co.'s extensive rolling mills, at Philadelphia, on Monday, John McGill, a workman, was killed outright. A piece of boiler was carried the distance of a square, and fell upon the foot of Mr. Jones Hunkerford, crushing it so badly as to render amputation necessary. George Harris was so badly scalded that he will die. James Davis was also mortally injured. The following were all seriously wounded by scalds or contusions: Frank and Sandford Wise, John Young, John Davis, Frank Smith, Edward Kelly, John Hennessey and Pat. Kelly. The boilers had been in use a number of years, and two years ago last October a mud drum attached exploded. At the time of the explosion the day hands had left, and the night hands had just commenced work, leaving but a few men in the mill.

—In the Common Pleas Court at Springfield, Ohio, John Cloud and Wm. Strope, convicted of robbery, were sentenced to three years labor in the Penitentiary. The case of Pope, one of the Hertzler murderers, was continued on account of the absence of witnesses. In the case of Roberts and Scott, the other two murderers, who escaped from jail some days ago, the jurors were discharged. It is rumored that Roberts and Scott were re-captured near Ripley, Browne county, yesterday afternoon.

—A man named T. F. Langstaff was brought to Cincinnati yesterday from Bay City, Michigan, on a charge of embezzling $17,000 from Cameron, Strong & Malone, lumber dealers. The alleged embezzlement runs as far back as 1857.

—Proceedings will be had to-day in the Court of Common Pleas of Cincinnati to forfeit the bonds of Keating and Holliwood, the feather weight prize fighters. A good deal of interest is manifested in the result.

—The workmen of the Washburne Iron Company, at Worcester, Mass., struck on Monday for an advance of wages.

—The New Orleans Tribune, said to be the only daily paper in the United States owned and edited by negroes, and the only one thus conducted in the South, has suspended for want of support. It supported Talifierro for Governor and the National State ticket, and consequently was deprived of official patronage. The Picayune passes a high compliment on the ability, skill and integritv of its management.
